WORLD WIDE NEWS OF THE TRANSVESTITE COMMUNITY

NO. 21

SHE SUES FOR HIS JOB

Carol Lynn Voyles, 30, perched on the conference table in the Federal Building press room, her blue skirt slightly hiked to reveal a very shapely pair of legs.

A few feet away, sitting on a couch was her husband, a truck driver.

"This is the second day of our honeymoon," Carol said, winking at her smiling husband. "But I don't want to tell you his name because we have just moved into our neighborhood and I think we are going to have some problems anyway, now that all this is going to break in the press."

What Carol ment by "all this" is that until March 4 she was known as Charles Franklin Voyles, Jr.

On that day, Carol underwent a sex change operation.

The reason Carol was in the San Francisco Federal Building was because of arguments in her sex discrimination suit against Ralph K. Davies Medical Center.

For five years, Charles Voyles, Jr. worked there as a lab technician in the hemodialysis unit of the kidney research center.

Last January, after talking to others at the center about the change he was going to make, he was fired.

In her suit, Carol charged she was fired because of sex discrimination and demanded back pay and restoration of her job.

She told reporters that it was almost impossible for her to find another job, because in any job application she had to list her service at the medical center.

"Things become tricky when I try to explain "Charles" and my five years of work as a male," Carol said.

At a hearing before U.S. District Judge Spencer Williams, attorney Allen Berk, representing the medical center, tried vainly to get the suit dismissed.

Berk argued that it was not a sex discrimination suit at all. He said "Charles" had performed his duties perfectly and that the medical center would have been happy to have retained "Him".

Berk said it was the transition from Charles to Carol that caused the trouble. A doctor believed that some patients were being caused distress because the technician who worked with them as a man was becoming a woman.

"If she came to us for the first time as a woman there is no question that we would hire her," Berk said.

Judge Williams observed there were some cases of legitimate sex discrimination but said he had some concern that the doctor may well have been within his rights to fire Carol, if the sex change, was, in fact, causing psychological harm to the patients.

WAS DRACULA REALLY A WOMAN?

Dr. Zoltan Meder, who was born in Transylvania, says that he has studied 17th century records that indicate that the fanged fiend in the Stoker novel "Dracula" was really Countess Elizabeth Bathory. It is reported that the Countess had hundreds of young girls killed so that she could use their blood to gain eternal life.

Dr. Meder, who is a historian says the word "dracula" means "She-devil" in the Rumanian language. The local people still refer to Dracula as a woman.

Judge Williams asked Berk and attorney Stuart Wein, representing Carol, to submit affidavits from doctors on whether patients might actually suffer mental anguish because of working with a woman who was once a man.

DEATHS TIED TO SILICONE BREAST SHOTS!

Las Vegas surgeons, who seem to have more than their share of bosom-conscious patients, now say that the once popular silicone injections used to increase breast size have turned a dream of "becoming sexier" into a nightmare of disfigurement.

In reviewing hundreds of cases, the doctors say that women who were injected sometime within the past 14 years, are beginning to experience the gruesome after effects. These effects range from discoloration of the skin to gangrene, cancer and even to open sores on the face and body.

In the 1960's, when the "biggest bosoms in show business was the name of the game, topless dancers and starlets came in droves to the practitioners who would give them silicone injections. One topless dancer from San Francisco, Calif., Carol Doda, rose to fame when she increased her bustline from 36 to 44 inches.

Thousands of housewives followed suit often without the knowledge of their husbands.

"Few of them realized what they were doing to themselves," says plastic surgeon Dr. Edward H. Kopf. "It's like creating a marsh in your body. The circulation stagnates, resistance drops and the cells finally die. The skin even falls off. It interferes with the circulation of the blood and the lymphatics."

Las Vegas surgeons alone estimate that at least 12,000 women in that metropolitan area received the injections. Of this number, 120 a year are now seeking medical attention.

Several women have died, many mastectomies (the removal of one or both breasts) have been performed, and drastic operations, where the entire insides of the breasts are "shelled out" and replaced with the safer silicone-filled bags, are common.

Another treatment is to try to suck the silicone back with syringes.

Incredibly, with all this evidence, the U.S. Food and Drug Administration has yet to ban the harmful liquid silicone injections. There is even talk of the possible release of a new silicone fluid for experimental use. Doctors, however, are pressing for anti-silicone injection legislation.

"Women have been put on the sacrificial block," concludes Dr. Kopf, "Victims of this country's mania to achieve sex appeal."

MALE GROUPIE

"Just call me Ralphie. That's not my real name, but it will do. I'm not your typical groupie. I've got no chest, and I'm not ashamed. That's not all there is to love, y'know." Indeed, Ralphie has his head together about his position in rock 'n' roll. "When I was 13, Richard and the Lion Hearts came through Pasadena, and I fell in love for the first time. With the drummer! Arms like you've never seen." Since then, it's been big names and scandalous rumors and unknowns, good times and bad. "One time this famous English lead guitarist beat me with his guitar strap until I was covered with welts, then he made me put his cap on as a cock ring. When I was hard, he stuck his Accu-jac on me and rammed it into fourth gear. While I screamed in pain, he wrote the lyrics to his next No. 1 single. He was so cruel, but I was in love." Like most of Ralphie's associations with the stars, the guitarist moved on to another small American city, and love was lost. "I go on, smiling, because nothing can hurt me now. When I started, my motto was 'out of the closet and into the dressing room'. I still feel that way, but most groupies nowadays haven't got any balls." Of course, people ridicule Ralphie at times, but he's tough. "What people say doesn't matter unless they've got a top 10 record," Ralphie noted as he left the room with the drummer of a big-time English Rock band.

DOLLS FOR BOYS: TOYMAKERS INSIST THEY'RE HEALTHY

There's Six Million Dollar Man; Atomic Man; GI Joe with eight models, three of them talking characters; Spiderman; the Superheros--Superman, Batman, Robin, Tarzan; the SWAT team, Kung! Fu fighters, Big Jim, Evel Knivel; Abe Lincoln and Uncle Sam of the Colectors Series of Great Americans; the Mad Monsters like Frankenstein, Wolfman, The Hulk, the Star Trek and Planet of the Ape's group; the Safari Adventure team; Johnny West series with bad guy Sam Cobra; the Wizard of Oz characters; Steve Scout who is white and Bob Scout who is black, both endorsed by Boy Scouts of America, and on and on.

The toy industry calls them "action figures", or "male mannequins," or "male articulated figures", or anything but what they really are: Dolls for boys.

BOYS HAVE ALWAYS played with toy soldiers and, surreptitiously, with their sister's baby dolls. In World War I, there was a Doughboy doll for boys and in World War II, a General MacArthur doll.

MISS GAY WISCONSIN: 1976

But the current break in the age-old taboo against boys playing with dolls dates back 11 years when GI Joe, a heavily-armed macho fighting figure first appeared. GI Joe, who responded to the anti-Vietnam War sentiment by becoming a less bellicose, bearded "adventurer" character, was begat in part by the success of the Barbie dolls, also five to eight inches high with movable limbs and innumerable wardrobes.

Now dolls for boys are a firmly established part of the toy business, accounting last year ---considered a dismal recession-prone year in toy sales--for some $320 million or 8 per-cent of the $4 billion total toy market.

More than half the gross is made up from sale of the accessories and "playsets".

NYC CORRECTION GUARDS ACCUSED OF RAPE CASE OF TS

New York City prison officials have failed to show up for court hearings on charges a transsexual inmate was illegally switched from a women's prison to a men's institution, where she was sexually assaulted by four guards.

The former inmate, songwriter Leslie Mason, is seeking $500,000 damages. Her attorney, Stephen Lattimer of the Bronx Legal Services, said the Department of Corrections, "Doesn't want the case to come out in court." City attorneys did not appear in Bronx Supreme Court at preliminary hearings two weeks ago. They refuse to comment on the case.

Mason had been living as a woman for five years when she was arrested in early 1974 for allegedly mugging a taxi driver with a toy pistol. She was locked up in the women's detention center at Riker's Island.

However, Superintendent Essie Murph ordered her transferred to the men's detention center, despite the fact she had twice before served time in the women's prison. Department of Corrections staffer Eileen Shanahan, a nun, said Ms. Murph called the inmate a "militant" because Mason protested her treatment while behind bars.

Mason had been locked in a section for "incorrigibles" and denied usual prisoner rights. Even her poetry was not allowed to be printed in the prison newspaper, according to Sister Shanahan, because the superintendent found it "unsettling."

Within a matter of hours, two male corrections officers from the Tombs arrived at the women's prison and whisked her away in a truck. No women corrections officers were present.

During the 35-minute ride to the Tombs, the officers forced her to perform fellatio on each under the threat of being shot while attempting to escape, according to court papers. The guards have been identified as Carstella Dalton and Otis Alexander.

When Miss Mason arrived at the Tombs she was pushed into the strip and shower section with male inmates and ordered to strip. When she refused, the papers say, two other guards punched and kicked her, then ripped off her clothing.

A statement by Miss Mason said, "When they discovered I had no male organs, the situation became one of those.... 'come and seethis'... what is that'.... wow, a freak' sideshow."

"Mr. Greece" stands between the Jane Mansfield look alikes (?) on the Greek Isle of Mykonos.

They are featured performers with the San Francisco based Angels of Light.

The two officers have been identified as Joseph Allen and Peter Facco. Mason was held overnight at the Tombs, then transferred to another men's prison--Wueens Branch in Long Island City. There, Warden Adam McQuillan handled the inmate with discretion and said a "mistake" had been made. She remained there three weeks in a special section for suicides, the only place she could be separated from men inmates. Then she was sentenced to 1 1/2 to 3 years at the state's prison for women in Bedford Hills.

Released in October, Mason is now working as a paralegal.

The Department of Corrections denies the incident and subsequently transferred the four corrections officers to other duties.

Bronx legal Services says no court order was ever issued for the transfer and the inmate did not receive a transfer hearing, as required by law. Also, medical statements establish her gender as that of female.

The case is expected to produce a landmark decision in the legal definition of transsexual.

CONFIDE

PRESENTS AN IMPORTANT NEW

CASSETTE ON TRANSEXUALISM

FEATURING LEO WOLLMAN, M.D.

In a dig-down interview titled "How the Doctor Can Help," this outstanding expert tells how he helps patients change their sex or their minds. The 41-minute tape is crammed with information on his modes of treatment and help beyond treatment. Here are some of the questions put to him by CONFIDE's director, Garrett Oppenheim:

- If a man is too big or burly to pass as a woman, should he give up on sex change?
- How can hypnosis help in deciding who shouldn't have the operation?
- What kind of man or woman marries a post-op transsexual—and what are their chances for a happy union?

These and many other questions are discussed with wisdom, humor and honesty—but above all, with compassion—in a tape you will want to hear many times over.

The cassette is $10.45 postpaid. Add $3 for open reel or 8-track stereo. Satisfaction is guaranteed.

WARDELL POMEROY,
co-author of The Kinsey Report, says:
"This is unquestionably the best book I have ever read on the subject of homosexuality..."

Indeed, one that the test of time should prove great. It raises a host of new issues, and it should prove the fountainhead for engendering a generation of research—a book destined to become a classic."

Ten years in the making, Dr. C. A. Tripp's The Homosexual Matrix explores the entire range of homosexual life. Its religious, biological and anthropological roots. Its role in modern politics, the military, espionage, and psychotherapy. Among the revelations in this book:

- Why no form of psychotherapy can "cure" homosexuality
- Why birth rates are high where homosexuality is high
- Why effeminate men are rarely submissive in sex
- Why transvestites are seldom homosexual
- Which forms of promiscuity are prevalent in men, rare in equally promiscuous women, and nonexistent among lesbians

And more! The Homosexual Matrix sheds as much light upon heterosexuality as upon homosexuality. Written by a psychologist and psychotherapist with a broad background in sex research, it has been hailed as a major synthesis—comparable to the work of Kinsey or of Masters and Johnson.

"Stunning... the most important theoretical work on homosexuality since Havelock Ellis' Sexual Inversion (1897)."

—Prof. Martin Duberman, author of In White America and Male Armor

"Rare and readable... filled with fresh and original insights."

—Dr. Frank Beach, Professor of Psychology, University of California at Berkeley

"Innovative and informative... provokes the mind and enlightens the understanding."

—Dr. John Money, Professor of Medical Psychology, John Hopkins University

"Solid, unprejudiced... utterly honest."

—After Dark Magazine

"One of the most fascinating studies of sexual behavior that has come along recently, and it may well turn out to be one of the most influential."

In Memoriam

Danny Brown

The institution of professional female impersonation lost one of its greatest assets with the passing of the great impressario, Mr. Danny Brown.

Mr. Brown passed away at his home in Hallendale, Florida, which he shared with his mother and lifelong friend, Doc Benner.

Mr. Brown, along with Doc Benner, his partner for over 30 years, were the creators and operators of the world famous Jewel Box Revue.

During its 30 year run, the Jewel Box Revue, was the crown Jewel of female impersonation. It was a splashy Las Vegas style production, consisting in its heyday of a cast of 25 men and one girl.

Actually, theatrics aside, Mr. Brown did much more than entertainment for the transvestite and homosexual individuals. Beginning in the 40's, when the concept of cross dressing was synonymous with homosexuality in the public eye, he spent many nights in jail and days in court. He personally forced many cities to open their doors to the concept of female impersonation, and had many anti drag statutes removed from the law books in many cities in the US.

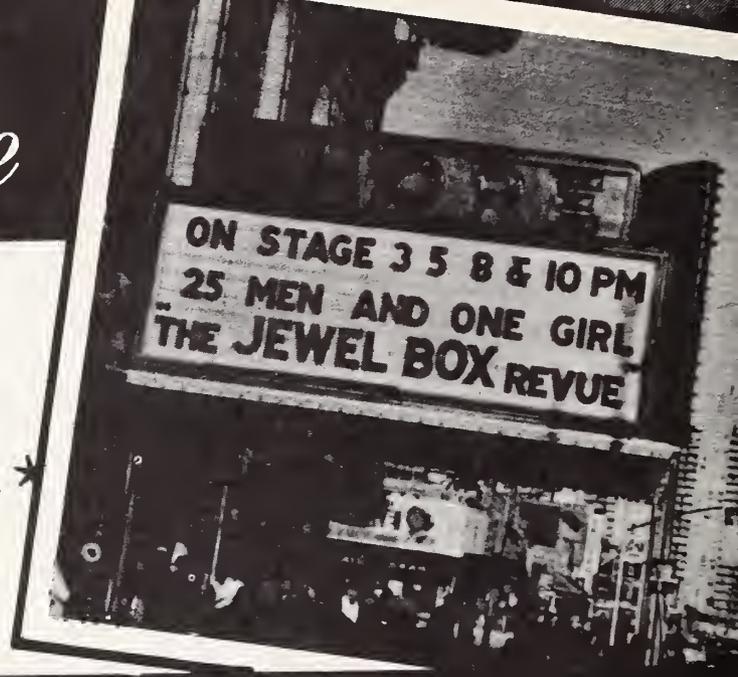

His professionalism, insistence on quality talent, in good taste especially, and his political contributions to our scene, earn Mr. Brown a proud page in the history of Drag.

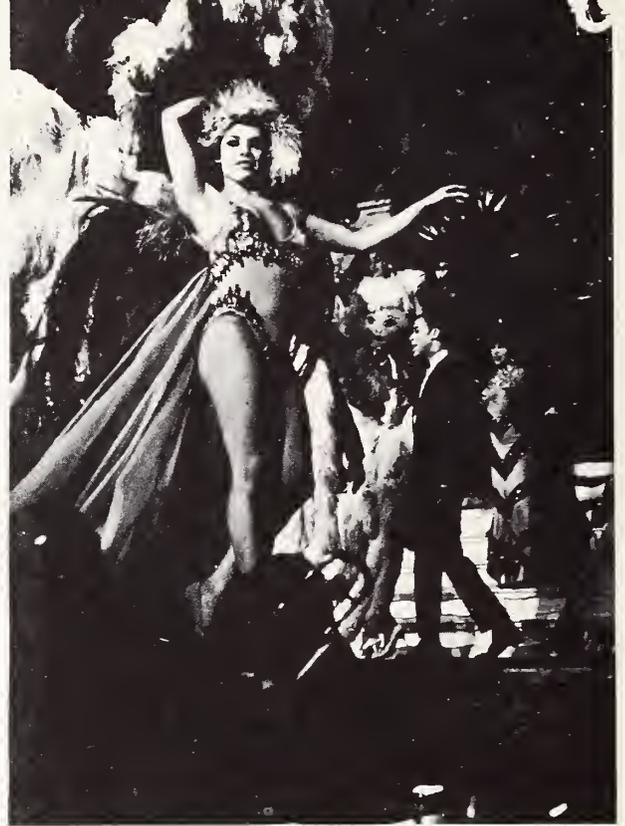

On the following pages we pay our tribute to Mr. Brown by presenting his stars and his productions for one final curtain call.

it's been a pleasure

Danny Brown once told us he liked to have quality entertainment, good entertainment and clean fun. It is on record that throughout its history, the Jewel Box was a family show. The cast was under strict orders not to do anything which would jeopard-

No, this isn't Cher. It's just a boy named Sue. Sue is a professional photographer and spends hours taking photos.....of herself!

Sue is from New York and would like to hear from you if you need any professional photos taken. She can be contacted through this publication.....

Vicky West became so enthralled with the styles and poses that were put together by our readers for this article, that she couldn't help but join the fun... as pictured here.

She got so "involved", in fact, that her slip managed to get caught in the xerox machine while she was working up these layouts--and the resulting copy from that little accident happily provided the inventive lace decorations for this article.

Vicky is now working up sketches and scenarios along these exotic lines of fashion for possible future articles or a separate illustrated portfolio and welcomes ideas from readers who wish to share their creative sensuality.

TV CONSULTANT: This service is basically for beginners to give them some idea of what they will look like when properly dressed. What we do is put one in full drag and we supply everything with exception of the panties and stockings (for health reasons). We give one several changes of hair, style as well as color and a couple changes of clothes. We do it by appointment only and there is a $25 fee for the two hour session, payable in advance. ($40 by appointment when not paid in advance due to so many people not showing up to honor appointment.)

One can take advantage of this service by completing the coupon below and sending in full payment, listing two dates and times. We shall confirm by return mail or call you if you list your telephone number. Additional information can be obtained by calling (212) 947-7773 between the hours of 12 noon and 6 p.m.
