Editorial

We're loaded with photos in this issue. Our far flung correspondent in S.F. has sent us some exclusive stills from the recent cotillion up there. See our own Consuela del Rio as the lovely hostess of this event. Also, our first in a series of lovely and exotic beauties, Zoe Anne, appears in "Pearls of the South Pacific". Look for more on her and some other new and unique lovelies.

We have the wonderful opportunity to preview for you some exciting stills from a yet unfinished video. This untitled project will be an informational film for cross-dressers, TV's, TS's, she-males, drag queens, and all other assorted and interested folks.

Finally, I would like to express my thanks and admiration to all the people who expressed interest in the vintage copies of "She-Male" starring yours truly in some unusually compromising photos. I had the silly things sitting around in my garage for years gathering dust. When my business manager discovered this she shrieked. She told me they would be of great value and that I should offer them for sale. I questioned their value. She insisted, "Are you kidding? Now that you're a 'Big Film Director', don't you think people would be interested to see how you got your humble start?"

It's hardly as though I'm a Vanessa Williams or anything, but if you want to see what makes up the male part of a she-male you might send for this book. See the ad on page 45.

Love,
K.C.

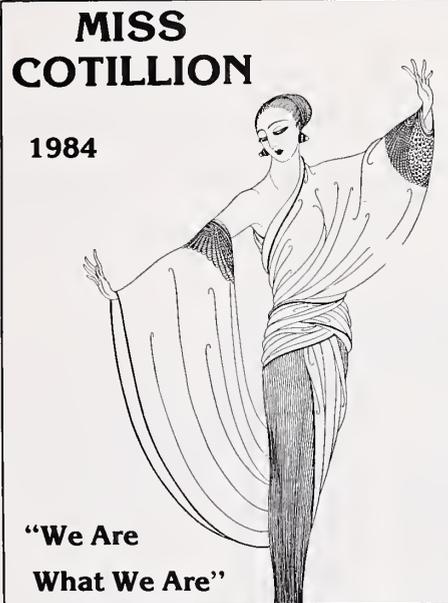

MISS COTILLION

The theme for this event was borrowed from the fabulously successful Broadway musical, "La Cage aux Folles". "We are what we are," was both timely and apropos. The event was ensconced in the lovely Emerald Room of the Golden Gate Holiday Inn. This writer would like to express appreciation to the hotel folks who open their doors to these type of events.

The Miss Cotillion contest is the first pageant in the history of San Francisco to have four different categories in the race for the title of Miss Cotillion. These four categories are: petite and medium, tall and smart, big and beautiful, and 35 years and older. Each category was judged differently. All contestants were judged in casual wear and evening gown. Only the petite and medium contestants were judged in swimwear. Selected contestants were judged in the talent competition. Scores were awarded to each contestant as they left the stage by a show of placards from the judges. Scores ranged from a 1 to a maximum of 10.

The Miss Cotillion Contest was created for all people who have talent, beauty or showmanship, no matter what race, creed or color.

Boy, 2, turns into woman overnight

In a sickening real-life horror story, a little two-year-old boy incredibly turned into a woman overnight—as a result of eating poultry!

This living nightmare took place in Puerto Rico, and shocked experts point the finger at the shameful misuse of estrogen growth stimulants in local poultry and cattle.

“The case is the most heartbreaking I have ever encountered,” declared Dr. Phillippe Ortega of the prestigious Santo Domingo Health Institute in the nearby Dominican Republic.

“Little Juan was a perfectly normal boy, the son of middle-class government workers in San Juan. But suddenly, horrible things began to happen to him.

“His breasts began developing until they resembled those of a teenage girl.

“He began menstruating—sporadically at first, then at regular monthly intervals.

“Pubic hair appeared and female genitalia were formed. Tests we ran showed he is every bit as capable of becoming pregnant as an adult woman!

“Juan is too young to understand what has happened to him, but his parents are frantic.

“They cannot understand what is going wrong with their beloved son.”

This poor boy has an unbelievably high estrogen level, exceeding that of an adult woman.

Dr. Ortega found that his parents innocently fed him poultry and chicken every day, believing it healthier than the beef they could not afford.

“Unfortunately, the synthetic female hormone diethylstilbestrol (a cancer-causing agent known as DES), and synthetic estrogen are still widely used to fatten up cattle and poultry in Puerto Rico,” noted Dr. Ortega.

“The U.S. banned DES and synthetic estrogen in 1961.

“But they are still available in Puerto Rico—in theory by prescription only, but in practice readily available on the black market.

“I am almost certain that these chemicals caused the terrible changes in Juan. Under our care, he has stopped eating poultry—and has already shown dramatic improvement.

“We hope to restore him to the healthy, happy boy he once was.”

Medical literature abounds with the sad stories of pitiful boys and girls who physically developed far too early.

One girl born in Luxembourg had pubic hair at birth and was menstruating at four, write Drs. George M. Gould and Walter L. Pyle in their book Medical Curiosities (Hammond Publishing, 1982).

At age eight she was impregnated by a cousin of 37.

The girl self-aborted—and the cousin was sentenced to five years in jail for seduction.

The authors also cite the amazing case of Ysabel, a young slave girl of a rich Cuban man.

Her breasts were well-developed at birth and she was menstruating regularly throughout her first year of life.

At the age of 32 months, her breasts and genitals resembled those of a girl of 13.

Her voice was grave and impressive.

Surprisingly, even male menstruation has been noticed frequently.

The discharge often comes from the penis or urethra, furnishing a close parallel to female menstruation.

One doctor reported the strange case of a man of 36 who had been menstruating since he was 17.

DRAG DOLLS

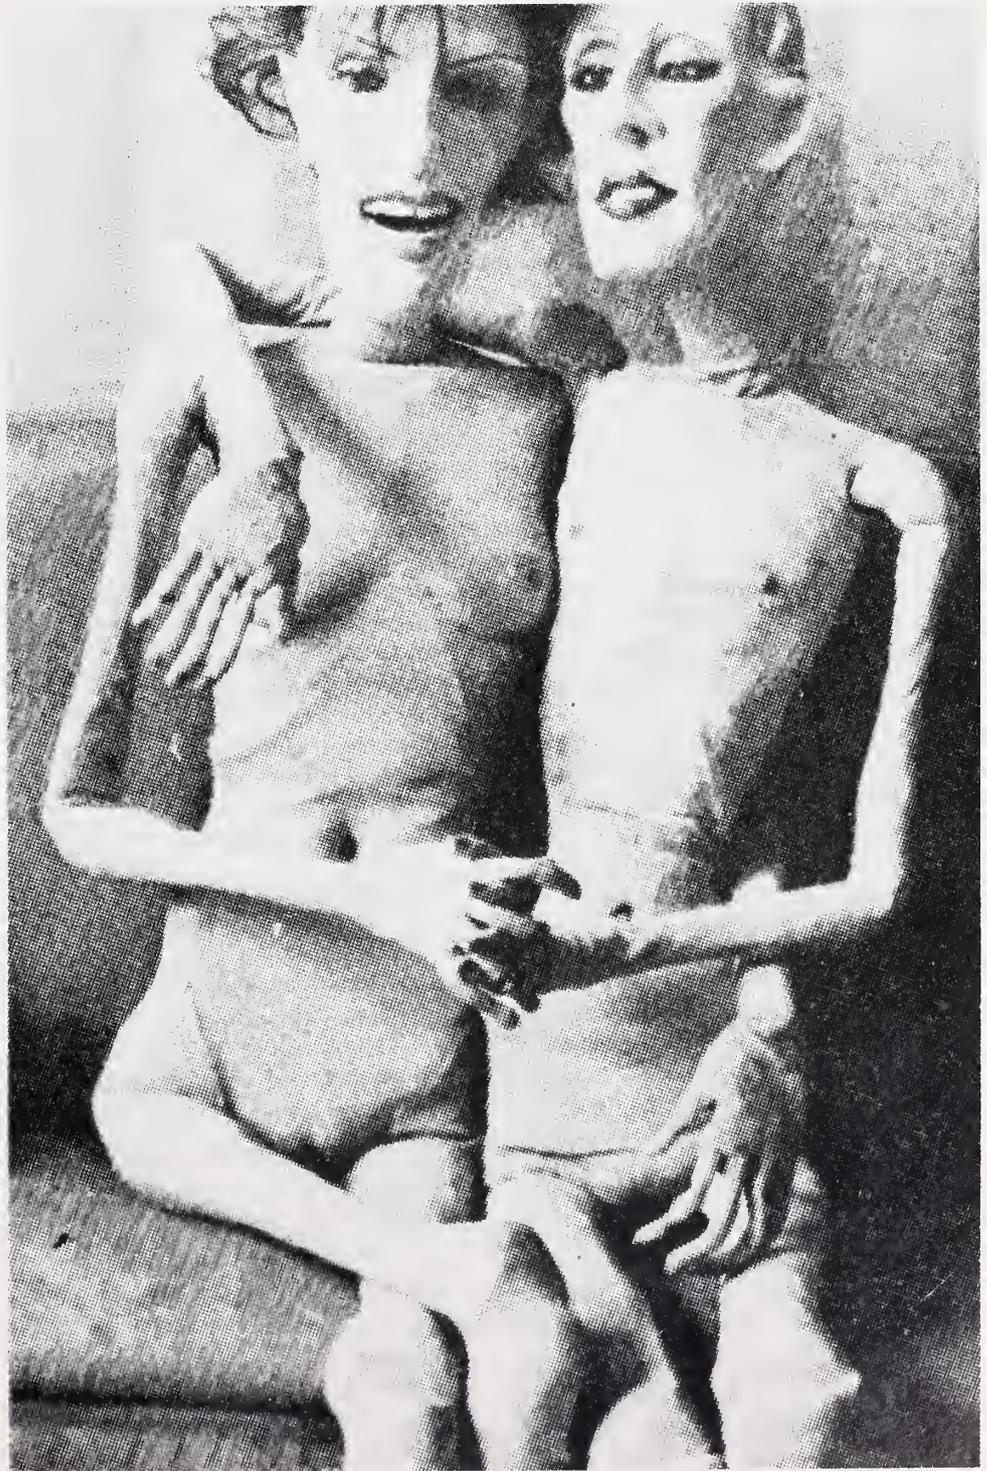

These days in the oh-so-chic East Village it's easy to foist your sawn-in-half Weetabix onto any number of eager young gallery owners, as there are now nearly as many galleries as slums around St. Marks Place . . . (and don't forget that everybody is an artist). On what other street in the world would you find a notable hair salon next door to a doss-house, a vegetarian restaurant next to an upgrade shooting gallery? But in between the chaff and the bull, real talent shines through like a ray of neon. Greer Lankton is a transsexual. A transsexual that makes dolls. Disformed doll, anorexic blond dolls, obese purple dolls with pricks and balls, dolls with erections, two headed dolls, dolls that haven't slept for 48 hours . . . not the kind of thing you find underneath the tree at Christmas. She recently had a startling show at the Civilian Warfare Gallery on the East Side of New York which predictably drew an awful lot of sensationalist outcries from the Manhattan press, who wanted it closed down. It consisted of 30 photographs, 3 life-size dolls, 2 medium dolls, 10 acrobats and about 15 others. She has also recently done "a whole bunch" of dolls of . . . big belly buttons, erect penises, umbilical cords—some dressed in Salvation Army clothes—ALL movable.

Greer is a charming person, with a voice that hovers somewhere between Liberace, Linda Blair and Molly Parkin. She grew up in the 60s, but now makes, paints and dresses dolls.

F.M.I. FORUM

The Transsexual Voice is an inspired publication that emphasizes what we at F.M.I. find so important. Phoebe Smith has designed her news letter to have editorial, reader contributions and personal contact ads. We have reprinted a touching and inspirational personal piece written by Ms. Smith here, as an example of the integrity of the publication. We thank Ms. Smith for her contribution to much needed media in this area.

Several months ago a doctor involved with a study concerning the success of transsexuals at the Johns Hopkins Gender Identity Clinic released statements for a newspaper article.

This study involved 50 gender disoriented individuals. Fifteen had change-of-sex surgery; thirty-five underwent psychiatric counseling. This study determined that there was no real difference in later adjustment between those who had the surgery and those who underwent psychiatric counseling.

The Johns Hopkins Clinic enforces strict guidelines. To say that fifteen out of fifteen post-op transsexuals failed to adjust is, in my opinion, an admission that those in the professional roles made errors in judgment at some point. (Maybe they chose the wrong fifteen for surgery.)

The success of each individual's adjustment could only be compared to his or her previous existence, not another transsexual and certainly no one else.

A uniform diagnosis could only be the result of conformity. I can't believe this study netted a group of conformers. Transsexuals do not conform as readily as those who are not. If one is strong enough to face society after having sex-change surgery, he or she surely is strong enough to be an individual. Therein lies the problem. Society accepts conformers not individuals. A Society conforming to wear the blanket of NORMALCY can be strong; it can also be cruel to one who doesn't choose to wear the blanket. (Being normal does not mean being like everyone else—being normal means being individual—unlike anyone else.)

Johns Hopkins now limits their surgery to hermaphrodites (persons with both male and female sex organs). Their halt on sex-change surgery may realistically be a step backward.

Negative statements made by professionals play a big role in hindering the success of transsexuals. The media is unfair generally presenting the bizarre or negative. How many success stories about transsexuals have you read? They do exist. The truth is—the successful transsexual is no one's statistic.

At 30 years with less than a high school education and no record (of any kind) to document my existence, I had to cover my past to get a job. I have worked for the State of Georgia almost ten years. During my fourth year of employment, knowledge of my surgery became widespread. It was upsetting, but also a big relief to get it in the open. Luckily, I have an understanding family and I had friends who assured me of their support.

“Today, eleven years after surgery, I am a busy and happy woman.”

Today, eleven years after surgery, I am a busy and happy woman. In addition to my secretarial job with the State, I have a telephone wakeup service and every other Saturday, I work for a large law firm assembling wills on a word processor. Two years ago, I bought a duplex as an investment. I am also rather social (I am reasonably attractive and I have dated quite a few men who never knew I was once a male.)

Last year, I published the story of my life in a paperback book. I write it, typed it, and handled all the details with no representation and no promotion except a flyer I prepared. Most of the books have been sold.

I do not present myself as a transsexual role model; however, I do consider myself a successful person. I do not believe the fact that I had sex-change surgery is a determining factor. Others, I am sure, have been more successful. I have made mistakes; being an achiever, I am willing to make more.

I do not know another (post-op) transsexual. The only one I ever met was in the hospital for surgery at the same time I was. I have talked with numerous transsexuals via phone and corresponded with far more from all over the United States who were contemplating sex-change surgery. From this experience I know transsexuals come in all races, rich, poor, both sexes, all sizes; and the desire for sex-change surgery does not subside after a certain age. One of my correspondents had sex-change surgery at the age of 58.

I also believe that the best research can never produce a cure for transsexualism or sidetrack a transsexual. My basis for this—there could never a proper time to apply the antidote—if the situation is recognizable—there is no remedy. One who can be dissuaded, never was a transsexual in the total sense of the word.

Society (as a whole) has no desire for us to succeed and when a professional (especially one with the clout of Johns Hopkins) makes documented statements, realistic or not, in the eyes of Society—that's the way it is. But, THAT IS NOT THE WAY IT IS!

As a transsexual who is “making it,” I have an obligation to myself and to anyone else who might benefit to do whatever I can to improve the situation. Why me? Why not me?

To remain silent is to accept—to accept is to agree. I do not agree with nor do I accept society's placement of me or anyone else who is unfortunate enough to require sex-change surgery. I have no doubt that the day will come when the word transsexual will no longer be a brow-raising word. However, it will not happen without the battle.

Letters to the Editor

If you wish to write to Kim and possibly have your correspondence published, please address it to Kim Christy, C/O FEMALE MIMICS INTERNATIONAL, P.O. BOX 1622, Studio City, CA 91604.

Dear Kim,

I recently met a young transsexual who has really captured my heart. She has had everything but the final operation which she hopes to have soon. I relate to her better than I ever did with any other girl. In fact I relate to her so well, I am now seriously considering her wishes for me to join her in becoming more feminine.

At first I didn't want to think about it, but, the more I learn the more I feel it would be a change for the better. She has already had me try on some of her clothes. I really love the lingerie & stockings and she says I would make a very pretty woman.

When I see how beautiful she is and many others who have made the transformation, I wonder if I, too, can be beautiful. We recently watched Orgy at the Poysenberry Bar, and I just fell in love with Jennifer Thomas. She has become somewhat of an idol to me. The whole scene seems to be turning me on more each day.

I would appreciate your advice. I would also like to know more about how Jennifer was able to so completely alter her body. Was it all hormones, etc., or surgery?

Thank you for your consideration and keep up the good work. I am becoming quite a fan and admirer, not to mention a bit more feminine.

Thank you,
A Reader

Dear One,

My advice is to "go with the flow." Have a good time with your new awakening. I would advise against any medical enhancement of your femininity at this time. You always have time for that later. Regarding Jennifer's "secrets,"—a woman never tells!

*Best,
K.C.*

Dear Kim,

Kim, I would like to take a little time to let you know that I have received your She-Male magazine yesterday and I sure did enjoy looking at your lovely photos and the lovely stories in it very much, Kim. I also loved the little note that you put in it also. I did not write my Mistress—Mistress Rosemary that I have received it and also how much I did enjoy it so much, Kim. Kim, I would also like to take a little time now and tell you a little about myself and my life as a She-He slave to Mistress Rosemary. I do so love my life as a She-He slave to my mistress, because if it hadn't been for her, my hidden desires would still be locked up inside of me because she brought out all of my hidden feelings, that is bring out my hidden female that was inside of me for a very long time and I do know what I am trying to say, Kim. Kim, I do love sitting around my apartment wearing all of my lovely finery and I can't get home from work fast enough so I can put on my lovely makeup and also my long nylons and bra and panties, in fact I wear them the entire weekend, Kim. I have only a couple dresses, but I am going in the near future in enlarging my wardrobe, Kim. I am 6'2" tall and weigh around 260 lbs. and I am 48 years old, but will be 49 in 18 more days and I have been married before and I have two daughters. I do put up all of my lovely finery when they come here to stay with me because I know that they would not understand how I love to live my life, Kim.

I have told Mistress Rosemary about them and as she does agree with me that they would not understand my life, Kim. Kim, I do not have a pair of breasts yet so I'd put a pair of nipple pads and a couple of spongy balls inside my bras, Kim, but maybe someday I am hoping to have a pair of lovely breasts also, Kim. I do shave my legs and also around my lower parts and I know where I am talking about, Kim.

I would like to tell you again I am the happiest She-He slave to Mistress Rosemary and I am trying to be her best She-He slave, Kim.

Your she-he friend,
Tuti Anna Strumpet

Dearest Kim,

Imagine my surprise upon opening your latest issue of F.M.I. and find my "Rita Hayworth" photo on page 7. I'm so glad you liked it enough to put it in your gorgeous magazine.

Your article on Coccinelle brought back memories of my early teens when we were so taboo— She was so beautiful—and—I know just how she felt in that divine wedding gown! I felt the same when modeling one for Fem Fashions in N.Y.C. and doing a "mock wedding." The groom was a striking girl in white tie and tails—crazy huh?—but fun!

Would love to meet you if you ever get into N.Y.C. Dinner's on me—Okay?

Love,
Mona

HAPPY NEW YEAR!!!

Dear Kim,

Just a note to say thank you for F.M.I. While many of your readers didn't like "Auntie," one of my TV fantasies is to be trained by an "auntie." Parts 1 and 2 were almost real to me, while part III was a disappointment, however life goes on, and so does F.M.I.

In a few weeks or so, I hope to join the L.A. JANUS Group, and a New TV/TS self-help group at the LA Women's Center.

Hopefully, by next April I hope to have completed a true-life story on my experiences in a L.A. B&D parlor. (The names will be changed to protect the innocent & guilty!)

I am sure that many of the LA readers of F.M.I. know that UBA, (of UBA's Fashions, Hollywood.) passed-on, a few months ago, but this store remains open and operating under the same name. The people are great, warm, and experienced in TV, TS, B&D, Leather, Infantism, etc., and have totally redecorated the store including new lines of clothes and some great close-out bargains.

Thanks for a wonderful surprise of publishing my last letter in F.M.I. #24, oddly enough I picked it up on Christmas eve.

Thanks again.

Love as always,
M.B.

Dear Kim,

I just discovered F.M.I. last week and I'm absolutely delighted! I never realized there were so many sisters; and I'm glad I'm not alone!

As you noticed, this letter is on Indiana University of Pennsylvania stationery. If you don't know, I.U.P. was voted as having the ugliest student body among all national colleges. But what they don't know is I.U.P. has a beautiful Secret Sister Sorority! When I showed them F.M.I., they were ecstatic! Many of us are answering the personals, to see how other sisters live.

I'd like to let fellow readers on a couple of secrets we have learned. One is if you are forced to live most of the day as a male, hairy legs are macho, & shaven legs are looked down in such a conservative area as rural west-central Pennsylvania. So, what I do is wear three or four pairs of stockings. It seems awkward, but the layers of nylon darken the legs enough to give the illusion of shaven legs, and since I have to wear a few girdles & minimizers because of my indulgences, I have sufficient garters. Another discovery one of my Sorority "girlfriends" made was that along with rubbing alcohol & astringent, skin-toned foundation make-up also covers up nasty beards, but try to match your skin tone as closely as possible. Any noticeable mismatch gives the appearance of bad make-up job, and possibly give a girl away!

Looking forward very much to the next F.M.I. issue. All the girls send their love.

Love & kisses,
Rachael

P.S.: Also, do smokers smoke feminine cigarettes, like Virginia Slims & Eve while out & about. A girl smoking Marlboros isn't attractive & Virginia Slims are quite mild & satisfying to us nicotine addicts!

Dear Kim:

Here's a little story of fact and fantasy that I hope you and your readers will enjoy along with pictures of Sally Ann.

My desire to dress as a girl started early in life. Whenever I would see a pretty girl dressed in pretty clothes, I never had a desire for her but always to look and dress like her.

One day when I was about fifteen I decided to try on a pair of my mother's nylons while she was at work. Slipping the nylons on thrilled me so that I looked through her dresser for something to hold them up and soon I was dressed in her garter belt, panties, and bra. Then I decided to try on her high heels. Everything fit me fine. I sat down at her vanity to put on some lipstick, and as I did the bedroom door opened and there was my mother, a look of total shock on her face. She asked what in the world I was doing dressed in her lingerie, but I was so petrified with shame I couldn't answer her, and then I broke down and cried and told her that I wanted to be a girl and that I had always wanted to be one.

She surprised me by saying she understood and took me in her arms and told me that I had always been effeminate and pretty for a boy and that I should always have been a girl. Well, she said you can't go through life like this so we'll see a doctor tomorrow. In the meantime we'll have to think of something to tell your father. He won't be too keen on his only son becoming a girl. Then I became frightened and begged her not to tell him. She said she would have to and I might as well be dressed the part when she did.

With that she sat me down and made up my face, combed out my longish hair, handed me a pretty pink lace trimmed slip to put on, and then picked out the youngest looking dress she had for me to wear. When I looked in the mirror, a cute young girl was staring back. I was ecstatic, but told mother I just couldn't face daddy looking like this. She spent the next two hours convincing me that I had no other choice, and began teaching me how to walk in high heels, and act feminine. Then she went to the kitchen and made a strong drink for daddy when he got home. I was to wait in the bedroom until she had talked to him about me. When he arrived they talked for an hour and I heard a lot of arguing. But then mother came and told me to follow her to the living room. I thought I was going to die, but finally there I was standing before him in a dress and high heels. He stood there looking at me as if in disbelief. Then mother said, "John, I want you meet your new daughter, Sally Ann. Sally, give your father a kiss on the cheek," which I did, and told him I was going to be the best daughter a father ever had. I guess he resigned himself to seeing me in skirts because he took a big drink and said I looked very pretty. I was so happy I could jump for joy. But he also said that I would have to have a sex change operation when the doctor said to. I told him I just couldn't wait.

The next day we went to see the doctor. After mother explained the story and that she approved of a sex change for me. He agreed, but said it couldn't be done until I was at least eighteen. In the meantime he would arrange for the courts to legally change my name to Sally Ann and allow me to dress and live as a girl. I was to begin female hormone treatments right away.

After the doctor visit mother took me shopping for my new clothes. It was a little embarrassing picking out slips, panties, and dresses while dressed as a boy, but I just loved it and picked out the cutest things in the store.

The next thing was to go to a new school. I just couldn't face my old school chums as a girl. My first day in school wearing a pretty gingham dress, lovely lingerie, nylons, heels, and with a satin bow in my hair was thrilling. Boys were very attentive, and soon I had many friends, and I was asked for dates by several boys. Mother had already given me permission to date with the understanding that I always had to wear a panty girdle and behave like a lady. School was so much fun for me.

But then I met Ted at a highschool dance. He was very handsome and played on the football team. I was thrilled when he asked me to dance and I think it was love at first sight. At first he was nice and we dated every week. But then one night after a movie he said he loved me and that he had to have me. I was frightened that he might find me out so I told him that I was afraid of getting pregnant, and besides my mother would kill me if I let a boy make love to me. He was very passionate and insistent and was all over me and I thought I'd better do something before he felt in the wrong place. I told him I loved him too, and I'd do anything for him except let him screw me. He said O.K. for now, but I had to do something for him. I told him I'd never had experience with boys and I didn't know what to do and he said he'd show me. He then opened his fly and his erection burst out. It was huge and frightened me to death. He took my hand and placed it around it and told me to massage it which I started to do. At that moment I'd have given anything to have been a real girl and had that throbbing penis in my tummy. Then he really began getting worked up and with his hand on my head gently sent me on my first journey into womanhood. The end of innocence, and a memory I shall cherish forever.

Kim, I hope you liked my little part true/part fantasy story well enough to publish in your wonderful magazine with proper editing of course.
Sincerely,
Sally

Dear Kim,

As usual, couldn't wait to get my hands on your wonderful FMI, Volume 14, Number 3, No. 23, but didn't like what I read in your editorial. I hope you're not leaving us. The magazine won't be the same without your picture, editorial and letters to the editor as well as personal ads and general layout. Please stay—we all love you!

I wrote once before requesting more pictures of a darling brunette named Michelle (Vol. 13, No. 4, No. 18) in "Letters" which you were kind enough to print. I love all of your magazine but "Letters" is my favorite where some of us get a chance to participate and where we get a chance to read some very interesting stories and see some really cute "girl next door" types such as that cute blonde, in Vol. 14, Priscilla. It's hard to believe that there are really "girls" walking around that look like this. But then I've been looking at you, the Princess of all time, for a few years so I know it's true. I loved her story, so innocent, yet spicy. I wish I could run into a Helen. I, too hope she writes more stories and sends more pictures. I would just love to see a large picture of Priscilla in color wearing lingerie or a pretty dress. When I see pictures of pretty amateurs in your magazine it almost seems like I'm there or that I could be. We all know that we could never be glamour girls like you or Serena.

Well, Kim, thanks again. Hope we get to see you or feel your touch in future issues.

Much Love & Merry Christmas
Joyce.

Dear Joyce,

*Darling, I'll never leave you!
F.M.I. is my first love!*

K.C.

Dear Kim,

Thank you so much for a magazine with such a unique and valuable mixture of taste and titillation—a magazine which not only helps a very diverse community but also enhances the self-respect of that community. Please don't ever stop!

Linda Lee's column in particular softly shouts a message we rarely hear—we are in search of individual fulfillment, and there are some very individual answers to be found in that search. No one should feel compelled to conform to a particular niche or path by society or by a group of professionals. Why shouldn't a transsexual choose to forego genital surgery, and why couldn't a transvestite enhance their enjoyment of crossdressing with hormones? Given time and information, most of us can be trusted to make the right decision.

I, too, am somewhere in the middle ground between male and female. I can't recall a moment in my life when I didn't want to be a girl. I had an urge to try everything feminine—clothes, make-up, playing "house" with the girl next door. I came out of the closet when I was eight—I found a shed full of my cousin's clothes behind my father's country store and spent hours trying on everything. Once, when I was particularly pleased with my appearance, I took a walk along the main street of our little West Virginia town decked out in print dress and floppy hat. On my first outing I passed beautifully (I wish it were always that easy!) until I walked into the entrance of my dad's store. My dad recognized me immediately. At this point in crossdressing stories, something traumatic usually happens—but not in this one. My soft-hearted dad just chuckled, and with a twinkle in his eye he said "Well, I guess I have a little girl now!"

He took a picture of me out

back behind the store and then told me to get back in my regular clothes in time for supper.

That shed was cleaned out by someone a few weeks later, and I gradually came to realize that I couldn't be a girl and that this was not acceptable behavior. The years which followed were filled with subterfuges—dressing in private, drag on Halloweens, nights alone and awake wishing for the impossible.

Your magazine must take some credit for where I am now—you showed me that it was OK to be myself, that I could choose my lifestyle, and that I could love and respect myself in spite of feeling different.

Today I am married to a wonderful woman who understands. I have two young children, and several days each month I am a woman. I keep all my masculine body hair cleared, my head hair reaches to my shoulder blades, my ears are pierced, and I have been on a light dose of hormones for two years. When my breast development reaches a point which is difficult to conceal at work or my sexual function becomes a bit marginal I have been able to control the dosage to restore my delicate "balance."

I'm sure that if I weren't able to have this best-of-both-worlds life I would either be a withdrawn, repressed male or moving along that Yellow Brick Road which leads to womanhood. Both are riskier and more difficult alternatives for me. I imagine the same is true for many of your readers. You don't have to make up your mind!

Here are some photos of myself which you may print with this letter or use as you like. Though I am relatively tall (5'-11"), I am frequently believable as a woman. In fact, because of my very long hair, unisex clothing styles, and general "aura" I sometimes find myself passing while dressed as a male! (I love it!)

Please keep up the good work, Kim—there are a lot of us out here who need the kind of support and entertainment which you, Linda

Lee, and the rest of your staff provide.

Love,
Sharon

CONNIE

Hi Kim!

Just a quick note from an amateur TV who enjoys "Female Mimics International."

I'm a hairdresser and beautician. So I can use my training to transform myself into a fairly good-looking "girl."

I'm enclosing a photo of me taken at a TV holiday party . . . unfortunately, the picture got damaged . . . I let it fall into the washing machine!

I'm wearing special bust illusions I bought in California last year. They really give me a great set of "tits," don't you think? I styled the wig I'm wearing, too.

Just thought you'd like to see another happy TV who's inspired by you.

(There's nothing better than being in full regalia, looking and feeling like a vibrant young woman . . . and then getting a blow job! That's what I love.)

Love ya,
"Connie"

Heather and Summer, two F.M.I. favorites, star in this informational video still in progress. We'd love to give you the title of this work, but this is such an early preview we don't have one yet.

We at F.M.I. are only too aware of the need in the community for specific examples and role models for the less experienced among us to imitate and emulate. The folks at OZ Productions are working to provide us with answers to many of our questions. Heather and Summer share their experience, strength and hope with us in the areas of make-up and beauty tips, poise and demeanor, voice therapy, and mental well-being. Hormones and surgery are discussed, and medical facts are presented for your illumination. The glamorous and humorous are not left out as our 'girls' change costume after fabulous costume. This is not an explicit video and is not produced to be pornographic in any way. The wholesome enjoyment of things feminine can be erotic and sensual to many, but this is a video whose main purpose is to be enlightening to both the participant and the onlooker in the subjects of cross-dressing, transvestism, and transsexualism.

So, look for this exciting new concept in video to be released soon from the people at OZ Productions. As soon as retail tapes are available we will give you ordering information. Look for more stills and the introduction of a new transsexual in the next issue!

Wilfred preferred inside a bra and panties to a corsette, while I always felt that a corsette did more justice to my figure. It somehow moulded my body into a feminine shape and it looked extremely feminine. I had bought a white lycra one with attractive figuring on the bra cups, suitably padded to give the effect of moderate-sized breasts. It was extremely tight around my midriff and sheathed my buttocks effectively. Underneath I wore a very brief pair of knickers which were invisible once I fastened the clasps in the crotch. To the suspenders—all six of them—I fastened a pair of fine-denier nylons of a light-tan shade which always seemed to suit my legs best. Like Wilfred my calves were fortunately poorly developed and looked more like a woman's than a man's.

I had dressed as far as the corsette and stockings when I looked up to see my wife assisting Wilfred with his make-up. He had already put on his white lace-edged bra and panties, a white suspender-belt and a pair of almost transparent nylons, as well as his white shoes, and with his fair wig he already looked impressively feminine and unlikely to be mistaken for a man except by someone who knew him intimately.

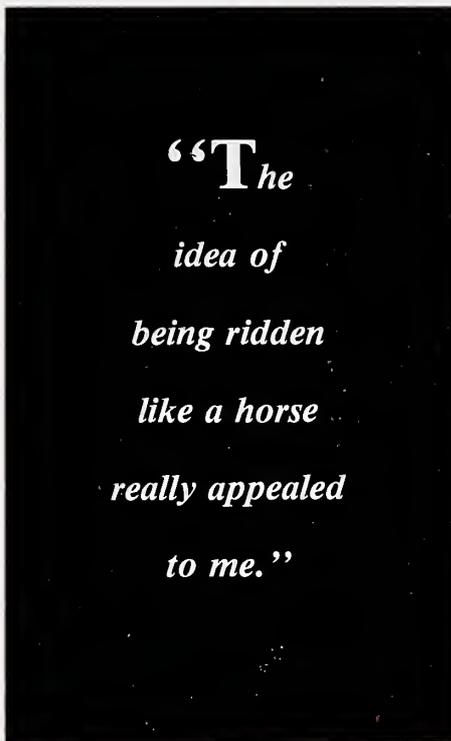

It was obvious that he was enjoying my wife's attention and being made up by her.

She had applied a moisturizing cream and was now paying attention to his eyebrows, plucking them a little before drawing in a fine pencilled line with the eyebrow pencil. When she had done this she used a purple eye shadow and mascaraed his eyelashes. The contrast of the dark eyelashes with his fair hair and light-beige make-up was striking. The finishing touch was, of course, the lipstick—a light orange one, that seemed to harmonize with the general tone of his skin.

It was now my turn and Jackie made up my face to suit someone with dark hair and a more sallow kind of skin: deep-blue eye shadow, dark false eyelashes, and a lipstick with much more red in it. I suppose you could say that by the time we were both ready to put on our dress one of us—Wilfred—was the fair

Northern type, while the other—me—was the Mediterranean type.

We were about to put our dresses on when Jackie stopped us. 'I think you look so terribly feminine in your undies that we ought to start our fun while you are still without your dresses.' She then said that she didn't mind admitting that the sight of us 'turned her on'. I began to feel randy myself, particularly when I saw myself in the mirror, and when I saw Wilfred looking at me admiringly.

Jackie quickly stripped and then put on her more masculine undies, those of the typical dominatrix. She wore a tight-fitting black basque, black stockings and high-heeled boots that reached to her thighs. Of course her figure was much more feminine than ours, for she had large breasts and prominent buttocks and I have no doubt that if we had been asked we would have admitted envying her such female attractions.

'Now,' she said. 'Let's pretend that you are my two personal maids. I'm not going to behave like Phoebe but basically you have to obey me and give me all the pleasure I want. As you adore feminine clothes you are eager to touch my knickers and admire me as a woman. Think of me as the symbol of womanhood that you aspire to emulate.'

She was transformed, even for me, and I could see that Wilfred also liked the idea of being dominated by her but also allowed to adore her and show his feelings towards her femininity. He quickly went over to her and put his hand down to her knickers, Jackie herself responding by feeling his genitals through the flimsy nylon.

It wasn't long before they were both roused by the mutual contact and a large bulge appeared in Wilfred's knickers. 'I am going to let you fuck me, Winifred,' said Jackie unexpectedly, 'but you'll have to be underneath me. I think that's appropriate. Also I want you to remove your wig while you do as I have to see you as a man while we're having intercourse.'

I have to admit that it reminded me of the woman in Highgate and I felt a pang of regret that I had never accepted her invitation to visit her again. But my attention was soon drawn to the extraordinary spectacle of Wilfred lying on the floor, without his wig, his knickers pushed down as Jackie straddled and mounted him. It all happened within seconds and before I knew what was happening Jackie had lowered herself onto Wilfred's rampant cock, sinking her vagina onto it until it disappeared from sight.

I felt no jealousy as I had with Jackie's lover. For I recognized that Wilfred was simply the object of Jackie's desire and that as a passive male he was being used for her pleasure, not the other way around. As Jackie began to lift herself up and down on his penis I could see that Wilfred was enjoying his role, his passive, masochistic role, and that he was delighted to be used in such a way. I watched intently as Jackie's body raised and fell on Wilfred's cock, almost as if she were riding him like a horse.

The idea of being ridden like a horse really appealed to me and I made a mental note to ask Jackie if she would try the idea out one day. I could envisage her dressed in her riding kit as I moved—in women's clothes of course—on all-fours about the room. The great thing was to be subservient to her wishes and to be used by her.

Wilfred was urging his pelvis upwards to ensure that as Jackie moved down on him she was penetrated as deeply as possible, and it wasn't long before they came together in synchrony, moving together at the right moment to ensure the best friction between them. And then as Jackie reached the beginning of her climax she leaned forward and kissed him feverishly to add to the intense sensations that had possessed her body.

Moments later she came. Her whole body shuddered as she thrust on top of his cock in a final moment on the edge of ecstasy and then as she cried out in the intense seconds of orgasm she slumped forward on top of him.

I don't mind confessing that I did something very out of the ordinary during the next few minutes. Seeking to identify completely with the woman stereotype I wanted to play a woman's role and do what a woman might have done in such circumstances. Therefore when Jackie lifted herself from Wilfred's body I rushed to where he was lying on the carpet and then bent over him and took his flaccid prick in my hands. Then, bending right over, I put my mouth to it, sucking the sperm that was still oozing from it.

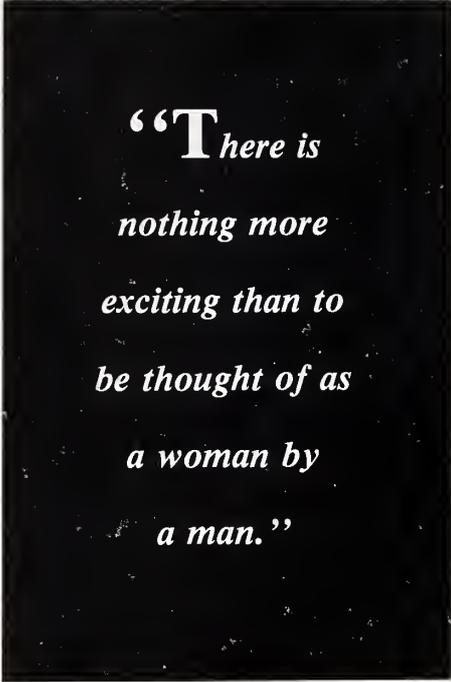

As I did so I heard the click of a camera. Turning half around while still keeping Wilfred's prick in my mouth I saw that Jackie had taken her camera and had snapped me as I sucked Wilfred's prick. Going back to concentrating on Wilfred I began to suck greedily until he was completely flaccid and nothing more came from the shrunken organ.

If I imagined that Jackie had had her fun and that all was over I was mistaken for she was now ready for me, and with a nod I gathered she wanted me to lie where Wilfred was. He got up and I took his place. At once, as I pushed my knickers down and pulled them from my legs, Jackie mounted me and sank my cock into her avid wet vagina. And then almost mercilessly she rode me.

I wanted to please her, to submit completely to her demands and I laid myself out, falling in with whatever she seemed to indicate she wanted. When she leaned forward and relaxed her movements for a while I began to urge my pelvis upwards and then withdrawing my penis in a series of rhythmic movements that undoubtedly pleased her. She groaned with pleasure as I continued to excite and stimulate her and I continued in the same way until she climaxed, her spendings flooding over my cock.

Even though Wilfred very much enjoyed his visit to my house, he had an overwhelming urge to show off before men. As he told me many

nothing more exciting than to be thought of as a woman by

times it was not that he was a homosexual. But his compulsion to dress as a woman had led to a desire to identify completely as a woman, and almost inevitably it was before men that he could display and live out this desire. It was for that reason that he never missed an opportunity to dress in front of other men, most of all before men who had no idea that he was a woman.

I am not sure whether or not this is the case with most transvestites. There are many, I know, who are happy simply dressing up and being on their own; others who are delighted if they find that they have a wife who understands them and allows them to dress us and make love to them in women's attire. But obviously a logical outcome to transvestism may be an urge to live completely as a woman. And when that is the case there is nothing more exciting than to be thought of as a woman by a man.

Wilfred did not set out to be seduced by men. It was simply that he got an enormous amount of erotic satisfaction from being admired by other men when they saw him and thought of him as a woman. It was because of this that one day, in the absence of his wife, he dressed in his women's clothes when he knew that a man was coming to the house to measure a carpet for the spare bedroom. He had caught a glimpse of the man when he had first come to see Phoebe and he at once made up his mind that he was the sort of man he would like to admire him. He was about twenty-five, well-built and muscular and very manly in an obvious sort of way. Uncomplicated yet intelligent he particularly appealed to Wilfred as very few men did. Somehow Wilfred hoped that he would attract him and be able, in some way, though he did not really know how, to please him!

Wilfred argued that if the man was as intelligent and sensitive as he looked he would probably understand the female psyche better than most men, and would therefore not simply think in terms of immediate seduction. He would want to please the woman he was making love to without thinking only of fucking her. Initial foreplay would be something he would be aware of and would know that it pleased a woman more than simply thrusting in and out. As Wilfred could not have intercourse with a man he was obviously interested in a man who would be content—at least for a while—to indulge in such initial foreplay.

The vagina is insensitive to touch and only responds to stretching of the deep muscles. If the clitoris is stimulated beforehand it becomes much easier for a woman to have vaginal orgasm. But stimulating the clitoris is not always successful. But if a man rocks from side to side around the pubic bone he can often bring about stimulation of a woman in a way that no other method can. This is a method advanced by two American psychologists, Jerry and Ginny More.

Now it was Wilfred's idea that if he ever found a man truly interested in him as a woman he would put forward the idea that men are wrong simply to think of fucking, and that, instead, they should please the woman in her way. He would then tell the man about the way he got pleasure, including the idea of the man lying on top of him and rocking from side to side in this way. He would also probably allow the man to see his breasts and to suck them as they had grown just large enough to be those of a woman, albeit still very small. There were many other ways in which he could successfully pretend to be a woman and enjoy being made love to without the man discovering that he was a woman. It would be perfect if he could get this ploy to work with the young man, although, of course, it could not be attempted more than once or twice.

The young man arrived as appointed at eleven o'clock. By this time Wilfred—whom we shall now call Winifred—was ready for him, perfumed, made up and dressed to perfection. She was wearing a corselette and her genitals were strapped tightly to her belly. As well as the corselette she wore a pair of knickers and a sanitary towel, the final safeguard if the man tried to take advantage of her, for she could always say that she was in the middle of menstruation.

Opening the door Winifred told him that Phoebe was out but that she was looking after things in her absence. The young man eyed her up and down and it was obvious that he found her attractive. When he had attended to the measuring she invited him to have a sherry and sat opposite him as he sipped it with her skirt pulled back so far that he could not only see her fleshy thighs but even the white crotch of her knickers between her legs. As he drank more of the sherry—continually offered to him by Winifred—he was turned on by the lovely woman opposite and had to start making an effort to control himself. But in the end it was too much for him and he got up and went over to sit at Winifred's side, slipping an arm around her belted waist without so much as by your leave. It was just what Winifred was waiting for. She was enormously pleased to think that such an attractive young man should see her as a woman—and a desirable one at that.

As he squeezed her tightly she felt a twinge of excitement in her strapped-up genitals but she was able to suppress this physical aspect of her sex and enjoy him psychologically, flattered at his attention, and feeling just like a woman because of his keen interest in her.

She realized that she was in some danger, of course, but she felt that

felt herself and was satisfied that the bulge would be taken for her

the man was not the sort who would be violent if he discovered that she was not a woman. Winifred's real fear was that he would be terribly disappointed; and, of course, she too would be disappointed to be discovered.

He drew her even closer and then bent over and kissed her on her lips. It was a moment of sheer ecstasy for Winifred for she was being kissed for the first time by a man she really liked and by a man who had no idea at all about her sex. She could relax in the knowledge that he really thought she was a woman and, judging by the way he continued to kiss her and probe her mouth with his tongue he was getting as much satisfaction from her kisses as from a real woman. At the same time his hand felt her thighs and quickly moved to the top of her stockings.

Winifred was in a mind to stop him but she wanted to see what would happen if he felt her corselette between her legs, as there would still be time to make him desist if he started to go any higher, feeling the bulge of her strapped-up genitals.

The reader—who is likely to be a transvestite or at least very interested in the subject of transvestism—should try to put himself in Wilfred's place. Imagine yourself keen to dress as a woman and eager to be thought of as one being made love to by an attractive well-built young man. His arm around you, his free hand up your skirt searching for your slit. His lips on yours. Believing utterly in your femininity! The thought of it is enough to turn your head and almost convince you that you really are a woman. It would be very easy for Wilfred to have done that, throwing hesitation to the wind and simply letting things take their course, enjoying the exquisite feel of being a woman. But, of course, Winifred was more guarded than that and had continually to keep in mind the risk she was taking. When however he touched her corselette, moving his hand back and forth over the clasps, he did not go any further, she was relieved and relaxed again, allowing him to assuage his pent-up feelings on her lips as he went on kissing her fervently.

‘I'm hard to unfasten,’ said Winifred. ‘In any case I've got a period on. So perhaps we'd better not go all that far.’

‘Do you like me?’ asked the young man. And when she nodded he said, ‘Oh, I'm so pleased. I think you're such a lady. I've never held a lady in my arms before, not a real lady. You look so attractive and you smell so sweet, I can't believe it would ever happen to me.’ And with those words he kissed her again, feeling her thighs and then taking hold of her hand and placing it on his fly-buttons.

Winifred had no choice but to undo them and feel inside for his prick, already swollen to full size. When she brought it out she could tell it was enormous though from where she was lying back in the cushions she couldn't actually see it.

She wondered what it would look like when she did catch a glimpse of it, what he was like when he was naked.

The feel of the massive organ in her fingers at once provoked the deepest desire in her and she felt her own penis beginning to swell, despite the strapping. Very soon it became so uncomfortable that the erection stopped and her sexual interest seemed to concentrate itself in her thighs and loins.

But the young man was getting more and more roused by their mouth to mouth contact and by the way she gently stroked his prick and in the end he asked her to suck him.

'Will you . . . will you suck my cock?' he asked her.

'If that's what you'd really like,' she told him. 'But first I want you to do something for me.' She unzipped her frock and then pulled one of her breasts from its cup. 'Please suck my titty, will you? They are a bit small I know.'

'I'd love to,' he said with a smile and then she pushed him onto his back and lay over him, the breast against his mouth.

When his lips fastened on the nipple and began to draw on it, it was the supreme moment of Winifred's life up to that time. By finding a man who wanted to suck her breasts she felt she had really established herself as a woman. It was almost real for the first time. Just like being a woman. Not only that, the way he sucked on the teat sent shivers of sexual excitement surging through her body and even started tumescence in her prick once again.

'Oh, God,' she said in a whisper as the young man drew part of the actual breast into his mouth, 'it's wonderful. I could have you doing that forever.' She quivered with excitement and gave herself up completely to the joy of the moment, forgetting everything else, forgetting altogether that she was a man. Her words affected him too for he began to pull more and more fiercely on the nipple, even biting it from time to time, just as if he were a baby at his mother's breast. The result was sheer ecstasy for Wilfred in his role as Winifred. It was unbelievable, something that he could never have conceived would happen to him.

He reached for her bra and dragged it from the other breast, quickly taking the flaccid nipple between his lips and bringing it to full size within a few seconds. such was Wilfred's high state of sexuality. He even thrust the teat deeper into the young man's mouth, urging him to suck harder, to bite it.

“She could relax in the knowledge that he really thought she was a woman.”

She was losing control of herself and even the strapping was not effectively preventing her erection inside the corselette. It was then that she remembered what the American psychologists had written about the man rocking from side to side on the pubic bone.

Was it possible that, excusing herself again on account of her menstruation, she could get him to lie on top of her and simulate sexual intercourse? That for her would be the greatest thing that had ever happened: even greater than having her breasts suckled.

The problem was how to work it so that he would not find out about her.

It was an exciting, thrilling yet dangerous moment for Winifred, but the die in a sense was cast and she desired to be a woman in every possible sense, except the one that was beyond her capability. She asked the young man if she could be excused for a few minutes whereupon she left the room and went to the kitchen where she had a box of Elastoplast stretch fabric dressing strip. She unstrapped her genitals and then pulled her penis down between her legs after pressing the balls up into her body. She then strapped her penis between her legs, pulled on her knickers and then fastened the clasps of her corselette. And then Winifred felt herself and was satisfied that the bulge would be taken for her mons veneris. What she didn't bargain for was the problem she had in walking and it was with great difficulty and pain that she made her way back to the bedroom.

'If you want to lie on top of me in my corselette and make yourself come between my legs you can,' she said. 'As I said you can't fuck me, but you can give me pleasure by rocking against my pelvis and kissing my breasts. But please don't try anything else as I don't want blood all over the place.'

I have to tell the reader that when I tested Wilfred's method for strapping up I found it extremely difficult to do, but in the end I managed it and was able to simulate a woman's body even when I was wearing nothing but a pair of knickers. Unstrapping afterwards can be very uncomfortable indeed so perhaps I should have used a contraceptive for my penis but they are almost impossible to get on when you are flaccid. The main point is that if your balls slip into the scrotum when you are strapped up it is impossible to walk without considerable pain.

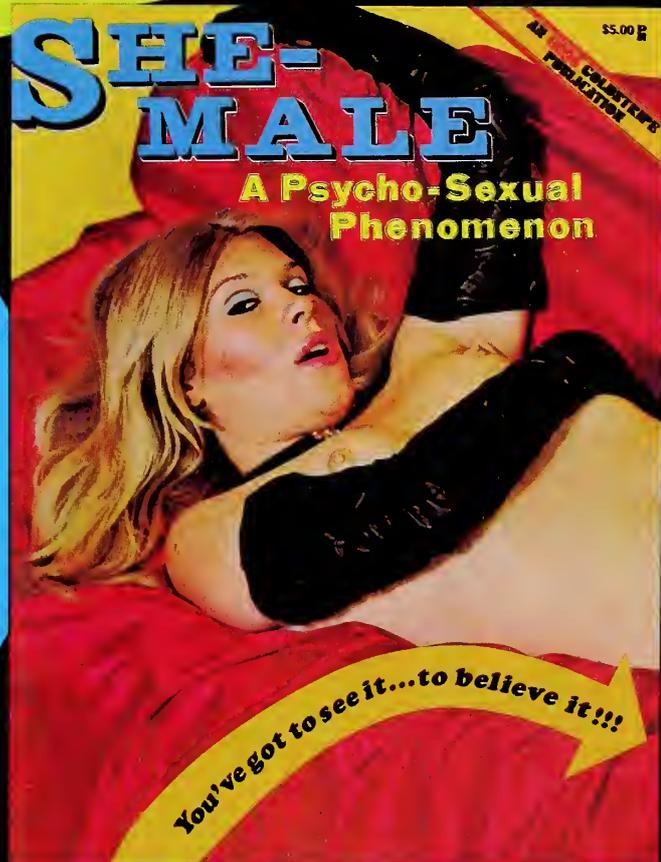

Anyway Winifred succeeded in making her way, as I have said, back to the bedroom and when the man began to undress she, too, slid out of her dress and lay upon the bed in corselette, stockings and shoes, asking her male lover to remove the latter. Before he did so he showed that he admired and liked her greatly for he bent over and kissed both shoes one after the other.

Now we must try to describe, from what Winifred told the writer later, exactly what happened and how she felt as she was 'fucked' for the first time. You can imagine something of the intense sexual excitement she felt as the man got on top of her slightly parted legs, pressing an already erect cock against her lower abdomen, until later on he moved it to between her thighs, which she then brought together. On top of her he pressed hard against her, moving from side to side and exciting her so much that she thought she would not be able to prevent an erection, though it was almost impracticable to have one because of the position of her penis and the tight strapping.

The real thrill was the sense of actually being a woman for a man. Because it was a man who was on top of her it polarized her femininity and clearly established that she was a woman—or at least that one man was so convinced that she was that he was making love to her in the face-to-face position, the woman underneath. Psychically it was perfection and Winifred could ask for nothing in the world to surpass it. The man first kissed her lips as he took her in his arms and began his movements, and later, slipping back the corselette from her shoulders he took each nipple into his mouth in turn, swallowing them in his mouth and drawing on them so intensely that Winifred felt he was getting milk from her. She simply quivered with excitement, her body aflame and tingling, and she was certain that she was enjoying what a real woman enjoys when she is being made love to.

When he got worked up to a pitch of lust which he could no longer control he put his penis between her legs and began to move up and down just as if he were inside her. In a few moments he asked her if she had a lubricant and as she saw no objection to him using one she pointed to her dressing-table where she had vaseline, creams and KY jelly. It was the latter he chose and he returned with the tube and squeezed a mass of it in the valley between her tightly closed thighs, thereafter mounting her again and quickly getting into a steady rhythm, up and down her thighs, kissing and sucking her nipples as he did so, his hands under her buttocks.

Ultimately he came, shooting his spunk into her crotch, wetting the corselette with the large amount of his spendings. Then he slumped at her side and took her in his arms, soon dozing off.

That was, in a sense, the highest point ever reached by Winifred in simulating and experiencing womanly sex and sexuality. That is, up to six months or so ago, for this story has to be brought to an end. There is, however some later news of Winifred (now always calling himself Winifred). It appears that he has become more reconciled to Phoebe's regime, which has slackened a lot since those first days, and they get on well together, having completely exchanged roles, Phoebe having adopted male clothing, Winifred always dressing as a woman. She has taken a job as a business executive, while Winifred stays at home, doing the chores. But she also manages to see the young man with whom she enjoyed her first truly feminine experience, and she confessed to me recently that the same scene has been enacted a number of times, Winifred finally having confessed to him that she is a man. But it has not made the least difference to his attitude to her: he still adores her as a woman and finds fulfilment in having coitus between her thighs.

My own life is not so very dissimilar to Winifred's except that I still keep my position and attend my office daily. But like many thousands of transvestites I change into women's clothes immediately on arriving back at home, longing all day for the freedom they give me. My wife is most understanding and cooperative and we share a large wardrobe of clothes. Sexually we still have intercourse just like a normal couple except that I am always underneath, which pleases us both.

Winifred will be visiting us shortly and bringing Phoebe along. The idea is that we should exchange partners for the night.

I'm not sure that I am going to enjoy the treatment that Phoebe is likely to hand out to me, but I shall have to go through with it. It will be worth it to find out more about Winifred and her future intentions.

Meanwhile I have visited the lady in Highgate a few times and repeated what happened on my very first visit. I have also been present when my wife's lover has spent a night with her, still keeping up the role of maidservant. This excites me a great deal for I am something of a voyeur, apart from which I always identify myself with Jackie when I see her being seduced.
