Editorial

Dear Ones,

I'm so wrapped up with the articles and products that are in our near future, that I'd like to tell you about some of them.

First of all, in August of 88 we will be shooting the California Continental Pageant up in the city that knows how, San Francisco. Janet Cory did such a spectacular job last year and is such a lovely person to talk with over the phone. The show is sure to be a hit. Apparently Vanessa Santoni is heading up the L.A. contingent and promises many beauties. Tina Alameda will helm the camera again. (Did you know that was Tina's work last year?)

Then in the following September we will send Tina to Chicago for the U.S.A. Continental Pageant, hosted by Jim Flynt. Jim is another charmer and we are grateful that such nice people are in our community. It's a two-day event and should saturate Tina to the point that she never wants to see a dress again. (Not too likely, huh?)

Carole-Anne Petti has delivered to our door a manuscript of epic proportions. She has crafted the most haunting and sexually arousing autobiography that this reader has ever read. The sexuality and sex action is frantic and at the same time the loving descriptions of transformation and clothing and all the glorious feminine details of our lifestyle are fabulous. This book will be bedtime reading primarily for those interested in sexual adventures involving a transvestite and many men. Her street-walking stories are terrifying and panty-soaking at the same time.

Plus, we have the normal chaos all happening here at Leoram: production meetings, new video projects, photo shoots and all the rest.

Yours,
Kim Christy

The Bitch is Back!

These rare photos are from material done on Kim Christy in the early 70's. Kim has granted us special permission to republish them here for your nostalgic enjoyment.

Pity poor Steve. He thought that his good buddy had set him up for the blind date of a lifetime. When Steve rang the doorbell on the top floor of the highrise apartment building he had no idea that the ravishing Kim Christy had made a deal with Steve's best friend. You see, Mike, Steve's friend had lent Steve a large quantity of money. Steve was very late on his payments and Mike needed some kind of retaliation.

Kim smiled sweetly as the door opened. "Hello, Steve, Mike has told me so much about you. Come, let's sit down on the sofa here and get acquainted."

"Hot damn, Mike didn't tell me you were such a bitchin' babe!" Mike burped as he lunged for Kim.

"Tut, tut," Kim reprimanded. "Is this any way to treat a lady?" Kim's teeth gnashed as she swatted the boy open-handed across the side of his face.

“Alright, you little turd, I want you to pay up your debt with a spit shine on my boots and a little butt oil on my paddle. Now get down there, you dog, and lick!”

Steve, never having met up with the likes of such an overpowering she-male as Kim Christy, was too dumbfounded and shocked to refuse her demands.

Later as he tried to sit his tenderized ass on the sofa to tie his shoes he almost wept from the pain, “Yes, Mistress Christy, I’ll not be late on my debts again and no, I’ll never speak ungraciously to a female again.”

“Hmmm,” thought Kim, “true socially redeeming value”

T & C

Dear Kim and friends,

I am so delighted when your magazine finally arrives in my local bookstore!

It is such a source of inspiration for me, seeing all the awesome photos of beautiful mimics! I read every word over and over!

I wish I could meet and talk with you and especially some of your letter writers. Kudos especially to Karla Kunz in #40! We should all admire what Karla has done! She is such a pretty "woman," with her full head of hair and beautiful figure. She writes so well of her experiences and sex life, which seems to be full of action! Her dedication in becoming a woman brought tears to my eyes! Karla, thank you for the inspiration and uplifting thoughts! Miss Kunz, you are super!

Everything in F.M.I. is wonderful Kim! I'm just a struggling TV who, like Karla, has to take a lot of flak from my family.

I've always dreamed of having big tits and a big cock. Fortunately, I have the latter — 9½"! I adore putting it in a tight pair of panties! I have an extensive female wardrobe, including several tight leather skirts, a lovely collection of bras and panty girdles, and dozens of real stockings — don't you hate pantyhose!

Sometimes if I can get my wife slightly drunk, she lets me dress up fully and fuck her! If she gives me head while I'm dressed as a girl, that's the tops. Here is a picture of me that I scissored out of a family picture. Use it if you want.

Thank you so very much!
Gayle

"I've always dreamed of having big tits and a big cock. Fortunately, I have the latter, 9½ inches!"

Dear Gayle,

Darling, nothing makes me squirmier than hearing about a lady with a nine-and-a-half-inch cock. Thank you for the graphic description. We too also adore Miss Karla Kunz. She is the ideal example of the modern transvestite. Write to us again soon, we loved your letter.

Best,
Kim

Film Future?

Dear Kim,

I have been interested in becoming involved with the productions of your film company, this has been a goal of mine for several years.

I have been dressing in female garments for several years, but have not progressed beyond the garments and occasional body shaving. I have a fair selection of transsexual information and clothing.

I am currently attending college to become a dispensing optician, from which I will be graduating in June of 1988. I am also single and willing to travel.

I thank you in advance for any consideration and assistance in this matter.

Love,
B.

Dear B.

The best I can tell anyone who wants to appear in a Kim Christy or F.M.I. production, is to write to us with a photograph or two of yourself and tell us when you'll be in the area.

Good luck with school and happy dressing.

Sincerely,
Kim

Out of the Closet

Dear Kim;

I am writing you after reading F.M.I. #40. I am in my early 50s, have been a closet TV for years. This has meant the usual buying of ladies' clothing, wearing it in secret, hiding it, and then destroying it with vows of "never again."

I am now in a modest position to change this guilt-ridden behavior, and within the next few months, will be able to relocate, and to live the life of a woman full-time. If at all possible, I would prefer to do this outside of the Pacific Northwest area, and am able to relocate.

I am writing you to ask if there is a TV Training School or if you know of a TV, TS, or woman who would be willing to provide such training? I am able to pay room and board, buy my clothes, cosmetics, etc. I do not know the cost of beard and body hair removal. Such training would need to start at the beginning, as while I can put on a pair of panties, a garterbelt, or nightie, I will "run" a pair of nylons while putting them on and my mannerisms are probably masculine. I also enjoy cleaning, doing dishes, etc. While crossdressed, I do not do drugs or drink, but I do smoke too much and drink too much coffee.

This must sound (or read) like an advert. in your delightful magazine, I realize that being in the helping profession, you still must make a living and I am willing to remit to you an appropriate referral fee, assuming you make such referrals.

Finally, is it possible to subscribe to F.M.I.? When I occasionally find it at the newsstand, I enjoy it immensely. Pardon my spelling; a SASE is enclosed; and I thank you, Kim, for your help.

XOXOXO,
Janice

Micki

Dear Jan,

It takes a great deal of courage to make the kind of radical changes you plan. I wish you the best of luck and most of all I hope you are happy. I cannot make referrals for our readers. The best I can offer you is to suggest that you place a personal ad in our column. Once again, let me remind all of our readers that I cannot respond on an individual basis to your letters. I wish I could, but it would be too time-consuming and the rest of our magazine would suffer for it. What I try to do is to choose letters that cover general aspects of what concerns the majority of our readers and answer those in the magazine.

*Once again, good luck,
K.C.*

Dear Kim,

I am really impressed by your magazine (F.M.I.). The pictures of yourself at the beginning are great. I wish I were so lucky to look that good. I have only been dressing completely for about 10 months, but have been a TV for as long as I can remember. Seeing the pictures and reading letters in F.M.I. have really helped me to gain confidence for my trips out in public. I have started to window shop in downtown Pittsburg and have had great success in passing. In the beginning I was made by quite a few of the younger guys that went past.

I'm not gay but its still a big thrill to get a whistle or admiring look. It's a shame there are so many of us that never get out of their closets and enjoy being a lady. There are so many TV groups around that have dressing facilities there. A beginner won't be made fun of there. They will receive a lot of support and can learn a lot on how to become more passable. I am a member of such a group. I have learned so much, I can't ever repay back what I have gotten from this group.

I'm sending along a photo. You probably have so many now you wish we would quit sending them. Anyway, I hope you like it. I wore this to our club's Christmas dinner party. You're doing a great job.

Love,
Micki

Dear Micki,

Your photo is fabulous. I can't believe anyone ever detected you. Thanks for all your kind words. I also think the value of aligning yourself with a group is of inestimable value. So many of our kind end up isolated and secretive. There is no need for the whole world to know about your private life unless you want them to, but I think most people experience great comfort and support from such groups. Thanks for writing.

Love,
Kim

Dear Friends,

I am writing you for information, having seen your address in Letters to Kim Christy.

I am a transvestite, and have been practically all my life. My venture into the wonderful world of wearing dresses began quite early in my life. Had I had not of become rudely exposed in my teens, God only knows how my life would have turned out.

The first feminine garment ever worn by me was an old-fashioned black lace corset, Circa 1912. When my exposure came, my waist was a neat 18 inches when corseted, and could be 17 inches with no discomfort.

After my rude exposure, there were long years of nothing but dreams and wishes. Of course a very macho appearance was developed due to my working at construction work and athletics.

Sometime in my late thirties, the urge once more surfaced, and I began to attire myself in dresses, and of course, corsets. Each time I get dressed, even if only a few hours, the urge to do so increases with each time I dress.

It has grown so strong, that I'd love to dress and live as a woman for the remainder of my life, and will do so when I hit the lottery!

Otherwise, I am facing a blank wall: I am in my eighties, but do not look more than my mid-sixties. Am enclosing a photograph, which you may keep and also publish if you should so desire.

A corset lover,
Sharon

Dear Sharon,

Yes you do look much younger than eighty. I envy you being able, even if it was years ago, to get your waist down to a seventeen inches. I never could get much smaller than twenty-five, but then I was much fleshier all over so it looked ok. I hope that you will continue to enjoy dressing as much as possible and who knows, maybe even win the lottery.

Best,
Kim Christy

Dearest Kim,

Hi once again and I hope this note finds You feeling as well as You look, ravishing as usual.

I must thank You for including me on a page in Your Fantabulous Magazine, I'm honored to be included with such a glorious array of gorgeous She-Males.

Reading of Your winter foray to Manhattan I'm heartbroken that You didn't take me up on my offer of a year or so ago for a night on the Town. To have squired You around the City as Your Lady-in-Waiting for an evening would have been the high point of my Fem career.

Mona as Joan Crawford

I'm glad someone from the scene, especially the Queen of She-Males as I think of You, caught Mr. Charles Busch on Stage. He is as You note due to become a Legend AND having auditioned for the replacements for Vampires & Lesbians (which was playing down the street, and You shouldn't miss it next time in) found him to be a Beautiful person. I and many others were often beaten out by the multi-talented David Drake who does a superb job as Charles's replacement in "Vampires."

I thought as You did that the role of Mrs. Forrest would have been right up my alley having done some Joan Crawford sketches on stage, But it would be tough to top Meaghan Robinson's portrayal in what the critics likened to Julie Andrew's Victor-Victoria role of a woman playing a man who's playing a Woman — Great acting performance. I still would like just

ONE shot at it though. I've enclosed a few of my "Crawford" looks to see what You and Your readers think — Hmm.

Yours in Lace,
Mona

Dear Mona,

Mona, I'm so shocked when someone actually shows evidence of having read one of my editorials. Thank you so much! I'm sure our readers will enjoy your photographs.

Love,
Kim

Dear Kim,

It seems I'm rapidly becoming a "Letters to the Editor freak," undoubtedly because we have such a gorgeous editor. Actually, I do have several suggestions for what they are worth and anyway they are the male point of view.

1. Most important I believe a video of a "drag ball" would be very popular.

2. I would like to see more of the "amateurs" (perhaps larger and more photos) of Sally, Robyn, Michelle, and Nicole of Art of Femininity II.

3. I would also like to see Summer doing something different in a video. She is stereotyped and really wasted. She is so very sexy looking and gorgeous. Perhaps she could do a striptease or something. She turns any man on.

4. I would also like to see more of Kitty, Jennifer, Morelle, Shannon O'Connor, and of course, Dana, and I almost forgot the two "black-widows" of Mardi Gras Passion, particularly Tiffany. I think she was the more conspicuous of the two. I hope she was a She-Male. What a smile and figure —

I really did enjoy Mardi Gras Passion. I trust the girls were all She-Males? I'd like to know. Of course, I just love Dana. She always keeps her garter belt, stockings and high heels on which is a lot sexier than a nude. (I guess I am a bit kinky), but I can recall when I did see you many moons ago. You and Chrysis always had your garter belt, nylons and heels. Actually, I was amazed at your gorgeous legs and how naturally you managed your stiletto heels.

5. I did order Behind the Scenes at F.M.I. Mainly because you are supposed to be in it. I also am much interested in the "videos" (preview trailers of Mardi Gras Passion). It is so refreshing to see Taija Rae and the other girls "dancing," etc.

Honey, at the risk of being classified as a real kook, I guess I fell in love with you 20 years plus ago because you really are the most fascinating woman I've ever seen. You look demure, like the kind of girl a fellow would want to marry and yet at the same time you look like an absolute "sexpot."

I promise I will not pester you again at least not in the near future except perhaps take advantage of the phone offer which will take a lot of doing because of my constant travel, but, somehow I'll work something out.

Best Wishes Always,
John

Dear John,

I hardly think it's kooky to have strong feelings for someone. I am always glad to get a letter from you. It's nice to hear someone talk about Chrysis. You know her face has been showing up in the tabloids and such recently. Details magazine for one. We will take all of your suggestions and reflect on them for up-coming issues. Please write again soon.

Love,
K.C.

Dear Kim,

Although I have intended to write to you and F.M.I. for several years, I only now find myself doing so. Perhaps like many "transies," I have long admired the beautiful girls that have graced the pages of F.M.I. (yourself a diamond among the gems), yet it is only now after I have admitted who and what I am that I finally write. Thank you for F.M.I. because it helped me to see myself. And I'm sure I'm not the only woman to feel this way.

The other night I was feeling a bit depressed at the way my friends and I are treated by family and strangers, so I wrote a letter to anyone who cared to read it. Knowing you via F.M.I., I figured you would want to for sure.

Feel free to publish my letter(s) and use my name but withhold my address from publication because I believe the local K.K.K. may have a subscription solely for the purpose of rooting out addresses.

Thanks again for your trailblazing, your courage, and for

"That which is good about me is neither gender."

being there. Without your knowledge of it, you helped me and enriched my life.

With my love,
Carin Victoria

Dear Carin,

I'm sure that all the members of the K.K.K. subscribe to F.M.I. I mean after all, do you think they wear those big flowing white dresses because they like feeling so butch?

All kidding aside, I really appreciate you sharing your deepest feelings with us. It takes a lot of guts to share an opinion that is less than popular. It takes a lot of guts to be proud in front of unaccepting people. But it takes the most guts to accept and love the people who don't accept us.

Sincerely,
Kim Christy

To whom it may concern,

I am Carin Victoria. I am a woman. Although I have always been female, I was born a man. This has caused me many personal problems through the years; the trying to live up to others' expectations of my life, and my own efforts of trying to live my image of a male life have caused me many hardships. Mostly though, I have been unhappy.

And now, as I have reached the point in my life where I need to be happy with myself, happiness that I have found in my womanhood, why must I suffer so much unhappiness from the people around me. If I choose to dress the way I feel inside, if I finally have the courage to live as what I really am, why can I not receive support and congratulations from my friends and my family; or at least why can't they just leave me alone. Instead, I must suffer through threats, scorn, and harassment because I am different from society's expectations.

Saddest of all is that I am not really different from society's norms. What I am inside is the same whether male or female, in fact, that which is good about me is neither gender. Love, concern, friendship, honesty, generosity, integrity, faith, intelligence, wisdom, ambition, helpfulness, cooperation, desire to do the best in all that I do; all that I value in myself are the same values that society values in itself. Even anger, when controlled, can be of value. All these virtues are of the same value in a male as in a female. Maybe society's norms state that one gender should have more of one value than another, but what [group of] people would persecute a man because he loves his children more than the woman who bore them? What [group of] people would scorn a woman who is wiser or more honest than a man?

All that I seek to do now is to bring what is inside of me out. By doing so, am I not becoming more honest? Am I not becoming more self-confident? Are these not virtues? Am I not improving?

By bringing what is inside of me out, I change only two things: appearance and relationships. People change their appearance and their relationships everyday. People change clothes to feel better about themselves. People change friends to feel better about themselves. People will make whatever changes they need to pursue happiness as they perceive it. (Didn't America begin as a pursuit of happiness?) If my pursuit of happiness leads me to feminine appearance and to feminine relationships, isn't it still my pursuit of happiness?

To you who have found hang-ups and trouble because of my life, I'm sorry. I'm sorry if I fail to respond to your problems, if I fail to respond correctly or adequately to your problems, or if I fail to see your problem at all. I'm busy exploring a new life. I'm like an adolescent discovering himself or herself. I'm just a kid (not an easy thing to be at my age)! I never meant to make anyone unhappy, I only meant to make me happy.

If you hate me because I differ from your beliefs, I suggest that you read Mein Kampf and study the workings of Adolf Hitler's master plan so that you may use your hatred to its fullest extent against me. If you feel that the suggestion is inapplicable, then it is most likely because your hatred is righteous and proper by the Bible. To you, I suggest that you keep your head buried in the Old Testament and not read Matthew 23:39 because you won't want to know that Jesus superseded your hatred long ago.

If you have written me off as crazy and sick then please remind me of my affliction everytime you see me; I want to be constantly reminded that the life I was living was as little, closed, and ignorant as yours is now.

If you have read my letter and are unable to accept or understand me then please do one thing for me: in your next prayer, when you are asking God to give you faith so that you may make it to Heaven, ask Him to remove from me those corruptions that you believe I have. If you have read my letter and think that you might like me or at least want me to live in peace and happiness, then please do one thing for me: in your next prayer, ask our Father to introduce us once we arrive in Heaven.

With all my heart,
Carin Victoria

“My wife also enjoys Female Mimics.”

Dear Kim,

I just received my copy of Mimics Annual #5 and I want to congratulate you on a job well done. I have several other issues and all are in excellent taste. I am a 36-year-old heterosexual transvestite (have been for years) and my wife not only approves, but buys me pretty things like bras, panties, slips, teddies and much more. Even better than that, she also has made me several outfits, including a satin maid's dress complete with lots of lace and an apron. I do most of the housework in it.

My wife also enjoys Female Mimics and is very impressed at the femininity of all the girls you feature, including yourself. Quite frankly, I think she is just a bit jealous. What we enjoy most about FMI, is that it is a high class publication and not a pornographic magazine. We aren't into that. “To each his own,” as the saying goes. We hope you continue with such professionalism.

I enjoy being a TV very much. In fact the more I dress as a woman, the more is my desire to stay dressed, sometimes whole weekends. I feel so feminine that I wish I could have real breasts to fill my bra cups. The urge is so intense that it is impossible to describe. To have real breasts would be a dream come true. However, living in a small town and being a logger blows that dream all to hell. I'm supposed to be macho and tough, but inside I'm feminine and passionate. I may never have breasts, but I'll always be able to create the illusion.

I have a few questions for you and I hope you can help me. My problem is that shaving my legs tends to make them sensitive after several weeks. I keep them shaved almost year round, so you can see my dilemma. I've tried “Neet,” but it is expensive and time consuming. I am now considering waxing, but I'm not sure it will work or how long it will last. I was thinking of buying a home waxing kit from Sears. Am I wasting my money? I'd love to hear from you if it is at all possible.

We would like to thank all the girls on your staff for such a wonderful magazine and we look forward to sending in our subscription very soon. Your magazine has made my transvestism that much more exciting and enjoyable. Keep up the good work girls!

Love,
Jennifer

Dear Jennifer

Isn't male hair a bitch. Waxing might solve some of your problems. It all hinges on skin types. Some people (usually brunettes) have tougher skin and can take the torture of it. It's a little rough for me. I do have friends who wax and spot shave what the wax misses. Although the waxing does have an accumulative effect. After you do it a few times there is very little hair to pull out. And since the hair follicle has to start all over again, it does last a little longer than shaving, although it can be quite irritating for some.

Best of luck,
Kim

One Of The GIRLS

by Marsha Manley

I recently spent a day at the office in complete female attire among men and women who accepted me totally though realizing that I am a male. Here is the story of how I became "one of the girls" if only for a day.

Eight months ago I changed jobs and moved to a new community. I am a bookkeeper. My new position was with a manufacturing concern. The company is well established in its field and is currently expanding to meet the demand for its various product lines. The job paid much better than my former position.

I joined a bookkeeping department consisting of six women, including a senior accountant, two junior accountants, a computer programmer, a bookkeeper and a secretary. I became the second bookkeeper and the only male in the department.

When I was interviewed and hired the Personnel Director kept stressing how important it was that I get along well with my fellow workers. Now, because I am a life-long transvestite I simply love being around women and working with them. I have always worked for women and around women and prefer their company to that of men. Of course, I couldn't tell the Personnel Director that I was an avid crossdresser and confirmed sissy. So I told him to call up my old boss and ask her about my work record. He did so and was quite satisfied with the recommendation that I received.

The Personnel Director intimated that there had been some "problems" in the bookkeeping department. The man who had formerly filled the position I was being hired for had been fired after a long controversy. He had sued the company for wrongful dismissal and the lawyers had settled the case out of court. I gathered that my predecessor had been something of a chauvinist and inclined to take liberties with his female co-workers — or so they had reported. The company had investigated the charges but there was no action taken on them. However, when one of the ladies was promoted over him a few months later, it angered this man to such an extent that he began to behave in a rather bizarre manner. He sabotaged some computer programs and stole some money from an employee recreation fund.

When he was caught by one of the ladies and exposed as a thief the company finally acted and fired him. It had been an unpleasant and disruptive period in the bookkeeping department and everyone was relieved that the troublemaker was gone.

Things had settled down pretty well by the time I started to work. But, there was still a bit of tension in the air. The ladies, you see, had petitioned the Personnel Director to hire a woman as the replacement. They felt that it would be best if the department was all female. They didn't want to have to go through another episode with a man who wasn't a gentleman and who could blame them!

The Personnel Director had refused to grant their request. He was worried that the company might be charged with sex discrimination if they pointedly excluded men from consideration. He told them that he would hire a woman only if she were the best qualified candidate. I understand that a number of women applied as well as several men but I was the one who was offered the job.

In any event, when I started to work I could feel a little chill in the office. They had all met me at the time of the interviews but you can't really get to know a person in such a short time. So they were a little unsure of me and it took a few days to break the ice.

Knowing about the past history was a big help to me. I am a naturally submissive person and it was easy for me to be non-threatening. I went out of my way to treat them all with the utmost respect and courtesy and before long they all began to warm up and within a week I had established a good working relationship with everyone in the department.

Here is a thumbnail sketch of my six co-workers. The big boss is Dorothy K. who is known as Dottie. She is 47 years old, married, has two grown sons in college and a daughter in high school. Dottie is an attractive full-figured woman. She is a C.P.A. and is very smart and extremely competent in her work.

Margaret B. and Louise W. are the two junior C.P.A.'s. Margaret is about 35 years old. She is married but has no children. She is a tall, slim brunette.

Louise W. is in her late twenties. She is single but has a fiance and will be getting married within a year. Louise is a blonde and wears a size seven. She has great legs and is probably the most attractive lady in the office.

“What really caught my eye was the one that encouraged everyone to wear an appropriate costume to work that day. My imagination was immediately kindled.”

The computer programmer is a divorced lady who has a living arrangement with one of the executives in the Marketing Department. She has custody of two small children. Her name is Susan P. and she is a very nice person who is caring and sensitive to the needs of others.

The bookkeeper's name is Mallory C. I work closely with Mallory. She reports to Margaret B. and I report to Louise W. but we do essentially the same work which consists mainly of posting and checking all the entries on the computer. Mallory has a great sense of humor and is a delightful person to work around. She is married and has one daughter. Mallory is a redhead and just turned thirty years of age last week.

Our secretary is the youngest in the office having just graduated from business college a year ago. She is just 20 years old and is a real cutey-pie. She wears her dark hair below the shoulders and dresses in the younger styles. Her name is Diana D. and she has a steady boyfriend who comes to pick her up almost every day.

All of these ladies dress themselves attractively in appropriate office attire. Most of the time this means dresses and skirts and hose and heels. Sometimes when the weather is bad I see them wearing pants but never bluejeans or anything too casual. Dottie sort of sets the pace for everyone. In spite of her fuller figure she is a very stylish dresser and loves to shop for new clothes. She is by no means obese. I would describe her as well-proportioned. She wears about a size eighteen.

Not one of these ladies is anything but feminine in appearance and personality. They all do their nails and pay attention to their hair and make-up as well as dress stylishly. Come to think of it — it's no wonder my predecessor was making passes at them.

One day early in October I opened the inter-office mail pouch and discovered a circular from the Personnel Department detailing plans for the company's annual Halloween party.

Now being the avid transvestite that I am I always try to celebrate Halloween in style. As we all know it is one time when the taboos on crossdressing are relaxed a bit and we can enjoy dressing without so much fear of ridicule.

I paused to read the circular thoroughly before tacking it up on our office bulletin board. Halloween happened to fall on Friday in 1986 and the company had decided to go all out and rent a local hotel ballroom. Part of the reason for the corporate enthusiasm for Halloween is the fact that we manufacture (among many products) a line of rubber masks and party favors and such. Costumes would be expected, of course.

But, the paragraph that really caught my eye was the one that encouraged everyone to wear an appropriate costume to work that day. My imagination was immediately kindled.

However, in the next few days my excitement turned to depression. I started worrying about showing up in my favorite frock and creating controversy among my co-workers. After all, I was the new employee. I was just getting settled in the department. They still didn't know me all that well. I was doing a good job and getting along with the ladies but I didn't want to upset my applecart. I had just cleared my probationary period and was now considered permanent. I was worried that showing up in women's clothing might just be a little too bold.

I was at coffee break one morning with Mallory C. and the subject of the Halloween party came up.

"What sort of costumes do people wear to this thing?" I asked Mallory.

"All sorts of weird stuff," she said laughing.

"Like what?" I pressed for a more specific response.

"Well, I went last year as a CRT screen," she offered and described in detail how she had made herself into a CRT using cardboard boxes.

"What about Margaret B.?" I asked. "What sort of costume did she wear?"

"Margaret came as a vampire — like that lady in the Charles Addams cartoons and Bob was dressed up like Lurch."

"What about Dottie K.?" I continued.

"She didn't come last year. I think she was sick."

"And Louise W.?"

"She came as a gangster — you know, a dark pinstripe suit, thin, little moustache, hair slicked back, carrying a violin case. I remember she had a big cigar in her mouth but she never lit it."

"I can't imagine Louise dressed as a man. She's so . . ."

"Oh no, she looked great as a man — a little small maybe, but very sinister. You know she's part Italian."

"A gangster with blonde hair," I said shaking my head.

"Well no, I think she tinted it with some rinse. It was dark that night and all slicked back in a pompadour like they used to wear in the forties — you know like Cagney."

I sensed this was the opening I had been waiting for.

"Did Edward come too?" I asked innocently in reference to her fiancé.

"He dressed up as a gangster's moll — had this tight red dress on and high heels with fishnet hose. He's so big it was bizarre, really bizarre."

"Yes, and what a scream — what an absolute scream. He dressed up as a gangster's moll — had this tight red dress on and high heels with fishnet hose. He's so big. It was bizarre, really bizarre."

"I can imagine," I sighed. "Did any other guys come in drag?"

"Yeah," Mallory said, "there are always half a dozen or so. But you know, it's harder for guys to do that than girls. Guys are so hung up on being macho. Edward told Louise he wasn't about to do that for her again. He looked really uncomfortable."

It was a conversation I wanted to pursue further but it was time to return to our desks.

A day or so later I found myself at another coffee break. This time the company included Mallory C., Margaret B., Louise W., and Diana D.

To my delight the girls began talking about the costumes they were planning on wearing at the forthcoming event. I listened quietly for some time as Diana described her catsuit made of black velveteen and the bulldog costume her boyfriend was going to wear.

When there was an opening I broke in.

"So Louise, are you going to be a gangster again this year and make poor Edward come in drag?" I began.

"How did you know about that?" Louise said with a surprised look.

"I told him everything," Mallory confessed.

"I don't think so," Louise said after a pause. There was a strange little smile playing around her lips. "Eddie didn't take to high heels too well," she added.

Everyone burst into laughter.

"So what about you, Marshall? What sort of costume are you cooking up to surprise us with?" Mallory inquired.

"I don't know," I responded shyly. "I haven't been to many costume parties lately (a bald-faced lie) but I'll come up with something."

"You can wear a certain red dress that Eddie won't be needing, if you want something," Mallory teased.

I blushed at this and my sudden change of coloring did not go unnoticed. They all giggled at what they took to be my sense of discomfort. I decided to put my cards on the table face up.

"Actually I was sort of thinking it might be fun to get dressed up as a woman — like Dustin Hoffman did in the movie Tootsie."

The effect of this admission on my part was partially lost on the group as Diana D. started gushing about how she loved the movie Tootsie and had seen it three times, but only once with her boyfriend because he didn't like it and so on. Diana's chatter used up the rest of the coffee break and we returned to our desks without further ado. Halloween was still a good two weeks hence.

The Girls from The Office

Daisy Wheel & Dot Matrix

Our editor Kim Christy was practically tearing her hair out when two assigned models did not show up at our latest shoot. "Well, that's how models are," Kim shrieked. "No call, no nothing and we have a whole studio staffed for the day!" Kim thought silently for a moment. Well, not silently actually, for the click and clatter of keyboards and laser printers were drumming in the background. Kim turned and looked about the room to see who would dare to make noise while the great Kim Christy was thinking. Facing each other like matching vanity tables were two computer terminals. Sitting and working diligently, lest they incur the wrath of Kim, the pleasant but plain transvestites typed away entering and coding the endless piles of paperwork that Leoram produces.

“You . . . you there!” Kim shouted at the two oblivious femmes. As Kim strode over to where they worked, the girls could not help but turn and look. But instead of the grimace of rage that usually decorated Kim’s face, there was a beatific smile of benevolence. “How would you two girls like to be stars?”

Dot blushed and gasped, “Me, but I’m such a plain Jane. I couldn't possibly grace the pages of the world's greatest TV magazine." Daisy, too, squealed, "Oh, Ms. Christy, it would be a dream come true, but how could you ever make me look like one of your fabulous models?" Both girls looked down at the floor, sure that once Kim had gotten a better look that she, too, would realize the folly of the idea.

"Nonsense, young ladies. You are just the kind of models we want for F.M.I. Do you think that all the models who walk through these doors look like that?" Kim gestured at a wall-sized portrait of Michelle. "No, most of our models are just plain folk like yourselves. We have a million tricks and secrets that go into making each model look her best. Thousands of shots are taken for each layout and perhaps only twenty or so, at most, are used. We want to give our readers the most glamorous shot we can. Special filters and lighting, plus the most talented of photographers all are united together to turn out a magazine cover that represents the level of quality we seek at F.M.I."

Daisy Wheel & Dot Matrix

Both girls sat at their terminals slack-jawed and dumbfounded. Daisy was so moved that the lower lids of her eyes filled with the tears of Kim's inspiration.

"Oh, yes, I really want to be in your magazine Kim!" Daisy shot up from her chair practically knocking over Kim with her enthusiasm. "Me too. Me too!" Dot pleaded as they both jumped up and down like little girls waiting to ride the pony.

Kim, self-satisfied, sat back against a desk as the young ladies danced about her. She crossed her arms over her chest and let them go on for a moment then calmly said, "Now you know that we are on a tight budget. I can't really afford to pay you much . . ."

ARE YOU MALE, HETEROSEXUAL, submissive, and interested in crossdressing? Does the thought of being forced to wear feminine clothing all of the time absolutely thrill you? Do you like the idea of being dressed in skirts and trained to mimic female speech and behavior? Do you dream of becoming totally feminized, in mind as well as body, without actually having a sex change operation? Would you give up the life and privileges of a man to become the obedient, pampered, crossdressed male wife in a marriage to a dominant, aggressive female husband? Do you know the meaning of phrases like — "petticoat punishment" — "corset discipline" — "forced femininity" — "sissy"? How would you feel if you had to dress completely as a female in every detail and appear in public before men and women who knew that you were really a man? Would you feel silly and foolish if you were made to wear a sanitary napkin in your panties? Do words like girdle, garter belt, nylons, high heels, lipstick and lingerie make you blush? If you find these questions interesting write and ask for a free copy of The Sissy Times newsletter. SASE required. See illustration. F572

Paying the Consequences

It had to be a premonition of some kind, because I had been getting a little more nervous and afraid each time I slipped on my mother's clothing, and I was so careful about putting everything back just the way I had found it.

I arrived home from school just a little earlier than usual, and greeted my mother from the hallway just to let her know that I was home, then went to my room. I could not believe what lay on my bed. I had to look twice, and then had to go over and feel the lacy bra and panties, and garter belt and long sheer nylons to make sure that they were real and not just my imagination.

What could it all mean? I dropped the filmy items, and quickly closed the door before anyone saw me, and then sat back down on the bed to think. Did Mother put her things on my bed, after washing, by mistake? No, these items were brand new. Was she suspicious? Did she know that I had been trying on her clothes? Oh, I was so confused. Should I go to her now, and ask her what her things were doing on my bed? I just couldn't. So I put them on a chair; hoping they would be gone when I got back, and went out to play. But, when I returned they were just as I had left them. I decided to say nothing about them that evening, and my heart was in my throat as I went in to dinner. Mother didn't say anything out of the ordinary, and Dad was his usual self.

I couldn't get to sleep that night with strange thoughts running through my head, and especially with all of that feminine finery right next to me. Finally, I just had to get up and try on those beautiful panties. I couldn't stand it. I thought if I just put the panties on and nothing else, no one would know, and I wouldn't stretch them out of shape or anything, but as I slipped them over my ankles and up my legs I got an erection so big and hard that they would hardly fit over it, and the look and feel of that lacy pink nylon around my loins was just too much, and before I could do anything about it, I exploded, and looked down in horror to see the stain spreading throughout the soft silky material. What in the world was I going to do now? In panic, I slipped the panties off and washed them. But now they would be used, and wrinkled, and Mother would know what I did. All was lost, so I placed the dainty garment back on the chair after smoothing them out as best I could, and crawled back into bed shaking with fear and anxiety, but finally went to sleep.

The next morning I decided to just let things go to see what would happen and went to school. Maybe, by some miracle, the lingerie would all disappear when I got home.

I could hardly wait to get back home that afternoon to see what had happened, and as I opened the door to my room and looked in, not only were the bra, panties, garter belt, and nylons laid out on my bed, but now there was also a pink slip, blouse and skirt and high heels. My anguish was total, and I knew now that I had to say something to Mother.

I was sick with embarrassment and shame as I went to the kitchen and said, "Mother, what are all those girls' things doing on my bed?" "First of all dear, I want you to know that I understand. I've been doing a lot of reading on transvestism, and thought it was about time you had some of your own things." I thought I would die, and started to cry with my face in my hands, and then, I guess, I just passed out.

When I came to, I was on the sofa and Mother was bathing my face with a cold towel. "Now dear you have to understand a few things about yourself. You can't help how you feel. You were born with certain traits and desires and needs and they'll be with you for the rest of your life. We have to face that now, I know that you've been trying on my clothing for a long time," and she chuckled, "but honey, I can't have you wearing them out," and then we both started to laugh so hard that tears came to our eyes. I guess I was just so relieved to have it all out in the open that I just let go.

"Mother, what am I going to do? I'm so sorry." "Don't be sorry and the first thing I want you to do is to go in and try on your new pretty things. I want to see how you look in them." "Mother, I just couldn't wear those clothes in front of you. I'd just die." "Honey, the first thing we have to do is get this thing out in the open, and find out just how deep-rooted it is. Then we'll know how to handle it. Now run along and change, and don't be afraid. I'm here to help you."

Deep down, I knew she was right so I went to my room and disrobed, put on the bra and garter belt, but as I drew the nylons up to be fastened, my cock got as big and hard as a baseball bat and I looked down and exclaimed, "Oh, I hate you, I hate you! I wish I were a girl," and at that point the door opened. Apparently Mother had been walking by and had heard me. "What's this about wanting to be a girl? Oh, I see," and I just about fainted again. She caught me just in time and lowered me to the bed and said, "I'll be right back." She came back into the room carrying a little panty girdle. "Here, try this on under your panties, dear. I think you'll find them more, uh, comfortable." I blushed clear to my toes as she left.

With that, I thought that she had seen about everything so I finished dressing and didn't feel too bad as I walked out as a young lady to seek her approval. "Honey, you look lovely. You make a very cute girl. Do you like your new outfit? Does everything fit?" "Oh yes, Mother, everything is fine. Do I, uh, do I really look alright?" "Of course you do. You look very feminine and pretty. A little light makeup would be nice, but we'll do that later. Right now I'd like to know more about your real feelings. I know that your exclamation in your room as you were dressing was caused by your little problem, but you did make that statement. Would you really like to be a girl?"

"Oh, I don't know. I know I'm little, and all the kids at school think I'm a sissy and I do like to wear skirts and things. I'm just all mixed up!" "I know dear, well, we'll just have to find that out as we go along. Now let's put a little makeup on you to make you even prettier for your father. He'll be home soon." "Mother! You don't expect me to wear girls' clothes in front of Dad! I mean I just couldn't!" "Now dear, we're not going to keep any secrets.

Your father is entitled to know your feelings, and while he may not be too thrilled seeing you in a blouse and skirt, we'll try to make him understand."

"Now I want you to walk right up to those boys and let them take a good look at you while I wait
in the car."

I began to shake as she applied lipstick, powder and mascara just thinking about having to face Dad. "Honey, hold still or I'm going to make a mess of your makeup." "I can't help it. I'm scared to death. What is he going to think of me." "Oh, I hear him driving up now. Hold still one more second. There. Now let's hurry to the living room. I want to surprise him when he comes in the door." But I knew it was going to be a shock, not a surprise as she hurried me along. I stood on quaking legs as the front door opened. "Hello dear, and who is this cute little thing, someone to visit Fred?" "No dear, this is Fred! I'd like to introduce you to your new daughter!!!" Dad just stood there transfixed, unbelieving. "Ann, what are you talking about? This is our son, a boy. Oh, I get it, he's going on some kind of school prank, a costume ball." "No dear, Fred is a transvestite. He likes to wear girls' clothes and look like a girl. Now just sit down, and I'll try to explain."

"Explain nothing! I'll put a stop to this right now. Come with me young lady." "Please Daddy, where are you taking me?" "I'm taking you to the schoolyard. Some of your friends are still playing ball there. I want them to see how you look wearing lipstick, skirts and high heels." "John, you wouldn't. You'll embarrass the poor boy to death." "Oh, wouldn't I." And he took me to the car, and we drove right to the schoolyard where at least a dozen of the boys I knew were playing.

"Daddy, please don't make me do this. Please, I'll do anything you say. I'll just die out there if they see me." But he was furious and would not relent. "Come on Priscilla, there's only one way to cure this," and he pulled me out of the car and practically dragged me into the yard. "Now, I want you to walk right up to those boys, and let them take a good look at you while I wait in the car."

I was beyond shame as I took my first trembling steps toward my school chums and as I did the boys stopped playing and started to gawk openmouthed at the inviting young girl walking toward them. Then I overheard one boy telling another, "Man, would I ever love to screw that," with an answer, "I'd give anything to fuck her little ass right off."

And then a different feeling came over me. I began to feel more confident, and I took daintier steps, and my hips started to sway ever so slightly. I liked what I was hearing. There I stopped and let the boys come to me. Not one of them recognized me in makeup, wearing girls' clothes and with my hair styled in a feminine manner. And soon, I was surrounded by them asking my name, and what I was doing there, and asking me for dates.

I talked to the boys for at least an hour, and I knew that Daddy must be having a fit, but I didn't care, I was so mad at him. When they finally let me go, I got back in the car and Daddy said, "Well, did you learn your lesson?" I didn't answer him, and when we arrived home, Mother rushed to me, "Honey, was it so awful, were you terribly humiliated?"

"Why no, Mother. I actually enjoyed being a girl. And Daddy was such a dear. Through his help, I have a date with a cute boy every week for the next three months!!!!"
